Eastmoor High School
Columbus, Ohio

1964 VOLUME VIII

Editor: Cerie Schwartz
Advisor: Mrs. Patricia P. Gall

As we, the seniors of 1964, close the doors of Eastmoor behind us, we can recall other doors which our high school years have opened for us.

Eastmoor has been the key to many of our experiences. It has opened the door to learning, to activities, to sports, and to enjoyment. Eastmoor has unlocked the future for us, if we use our key wisely.

Our faculty holds the key to knowledge. Through their fine teaching skills, the student body has achieved scholastic awards and honors as well as the basic learning skills.

Activities provide us with many keys. They give us the keys to dramatics, to sports, to clubs, to service, and to a wonderful athletic department.

The underclassmen possess the key to many more unknown doors. They have the opportunity to unlock many wonderful experiences at Eastmoor.

The seniors will have to hang up their keys and shut the doors of Eastmoor behind them. But they can never forget the wonderfully meaningful times they have had at EHS. After leaving high school, the seniors will obtain a new set of keys—keys to life. With these keys they will open their future.

Now, let us open the doors of 1963-64 by our key, the SHIELD.

Taking a last minute look at their daily lessons are Billie Jo Ankrom and Bob Farus.

Eastmoor has not been just a high school—it has been a way of life. The world of EHS always hums with activities. It is made up of silence in the library, bustling crowds in the hallways, hungry students in the cafeteria, hard working rehearsals for plays, and cheering enthusiastic sport fans. Students with a sense of responsibility and grasping minds are all a part of our world at Eastmoor.

It is impossible to look back on our years at East-moor without many fond memories. We can remember the thrills, the hard work, and the enjoyment we have experienced.

We recall our assemblies, our study halls, and our classes.

We remember the football, basketball, and baseball games. We cheered loudly for our Warriors.

Most of all we remember our friends and our wonderful times.

Faculty

The members of the faculty hold the key to education. They fashion it and put it into the lock, but we the students must turn it. They can lead us to the door; we must open it.

Theirs is the satisfaction of guiding young people to the door of learning, and theirs alone is the gratification of seeing their students succeed.

The Columbus Board of Education works very hard all year to improve our city school system. The nine members do not get paid for their difficult task of carrying out high policy and improving the schools. The members of the board are elected every four years. Two members of the board, Norma Jones and Robert Ramsey, were elected this year from the Eastmoor district.

Eibling, Board Guide Schools

Superintendent of Columbus Public Schools, Dr. Harold Eibling.

Mr. Gordon K. Harris, our principal, came to EHS from North High School where he was vice-principal. Mr. Harris was kept quite busy during the summer making up the schedules for the student body and faculty. However, he did find time for his hobbies, fishing and music. He has two sons and a charming wife.

He displays great faith in both the students and the faculty of EHS. You can always hear Mr. Harris yelling enthusiastically at our sporting events.

Nicklaus Handles V.P.'s Tasks

That cold night air doesn't stop Mr. Nicklaus from supporting the Warrior team.

Mr. Howard Nicklaus, our vice-principal, came to Eastmoor from Linden McKinley at mid-semester last year. He has worked diligently the last year and a half to make Eastmoor a top ranking school in academics and in school spirit. He has had much experience in working with young people, and the student body at EHS has profited from this experience. Mr. Nicklaus, an avid Eastmoor sports fan, can always be found cheering for the Warriors at all of their sporting activities.

Howard E. Nicklaus

Mrs. Jean Mahoney

Mrs. Mahoney, our senior advisor, aids many students in deciding their future plans. She talks with them about their problems, both personal and scholastic, and is always willing to help. She assists with scholarship tests and makes all possible information available to the Seniors.

Mr. Donald Murphy

Mr. Murphy is not only our attendance officer, he also is in charge of the electrical arrangements for the school's activities. He is the advisor to Science Seminar, a class for science-minded students.

Guidance Is Their Code

Miss Victoria Miller

Miss Miller, activity co-ordinator, is kept very busy throughout the year. She is the advisor to Student Council as well as the Senior Prom, Homecoming, and Girls' and Boys' State.

Mr. William Byrne

Mr. Byrne, our underclass counselor, prepares underclassmen for their future years at EHS by aiding them in schedule make-up and future college and vocational planning. Another job on his busy schedule is that of audio-visual advisor.

We can always find Mr. Swoyer working on another project in the wood shop.

Mold Our Futures

We, the students of E.H.S., owe a debt of gratitude to our faculty—our administrators as well as our teachers. Untiringly, they endeavor to instill in us the knowledge we will need in order to face the challenges that life will bring. Unhesitatingly, they give of themselves in order that we may learn. What better way exists to honor them than by making a votive effort to benefit from their dedication?

After one of Mr. Barr's Driver ed. classes, he has to make sure he still has a motor left.

Mrs. June Lamp and Mrs. Pauline Whitaker are Eastmoor's busy secretaries.

Unsung Heroes

The secretaries seem to keep the heartbeat of EHS thumping. They answer the phones, take messages, send out information, mimeograph bulletins for the faculty and students, and help students whenever they can.

Our custodians are always busy fixing something, cleaning, shoveling the snow, mowing the lawn, keeping the grounds in top condition, and performing many other tasks. And even with all this work they find time to greet you with a smile and a friendly word.

Our bus drivers are Merrill Bagly, Gale Hysell, Miles B. Weaver, Harold E. Brake.

Keep EHS A-OK

Taking care of students who fall ill at school is Edna Kies, the school nurse.

The tantalizing aroma coming from the cafeteria is a product of our cafeteria workers' dietary abilities. They provide well-balanced meals for our student body.

An integral part of our school system is the bus drivers. They provide transportation to and from Eastmoor.

ACADEMIC

The students of Eastmoor Senior High have used the key of knowledge to unlock the door to the academic world. The key, forged on the day when they first entered school, has become, year after year, a more precise and perfect instrument. It has not yet reached perfection, but every class attended and every bit of knowledge gained has impressed another notch upon it. It is tempered with the hard work of students and faculty alike and one day, when its intricate grooves mesh with those of the final lock, the ultimate educational goal will have been achieved.

Science, Math

Science courses at Eastmoor prepare the student for the challenges of the technological age. General science provides a background of basic but vital information. Physical science teaches practical applications of some of the scientific laws governing the world. Biology I and II teach the student about plant and animal life. In chemistry and physics, students learn exacting methods in scientific thought and experimentation. Many of the science courses lead to careers in medicine, nursing, engineering and lab research. However, the goal is not only to promote specialization but to develop broad knowledge in a variety of fields.

Eastmoor's broad mathematics program aims at providing for the needs and talents of every student. This program is divided into three special sequences. The modified program that later expands into the regular program includes general mathematics and senior mathematics. The regular program offers Algebra I and II, plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry and analytical geometry. The accelerated program presents a challenge to the able student by offering him Algebra I in the eighth grade so that in the twelfth grade he has the opportunity to take Math Honors IV.

Challenge EHS Students

Function graphs hold the interest of Math Honors IV students: (l. to r.) Debbie Linick, Richie Stein, and Rita Snyder.

Students practice vowel sounds in a Spanish I class.

The foreign language department attempts to combine knowledge of the culture and customs of a country with the language itself. Great emphasis is placed on the spoken language since Eastmoor realizes the importance of comprehension of foreign languages. By exploring the literature, folklore, and ways of life of the countries in which a certain language is spoken, students gain a better understanding of the people and nations of the world.

Langauge Vital

French IV students are intent on choosing a taped lesson for use in the language lab as Mrs. Bringwald looks on. Pictured are: (l. to r.) Kendra Hovis, Chico de Mello, and Ellen Gross.

The basic English courses stress the importance of grammar and its use and provide a broad background in American and English literature. Senior composition specializes in the composition and organization of thoughts in writing.

By learning about acting, blocking, lighting, and stage-makeup, the dramatics student has an opportunity to find out what it means to be an artist. Dramatics provides understanding, appreciation, and knowledge that enrich the student's life.

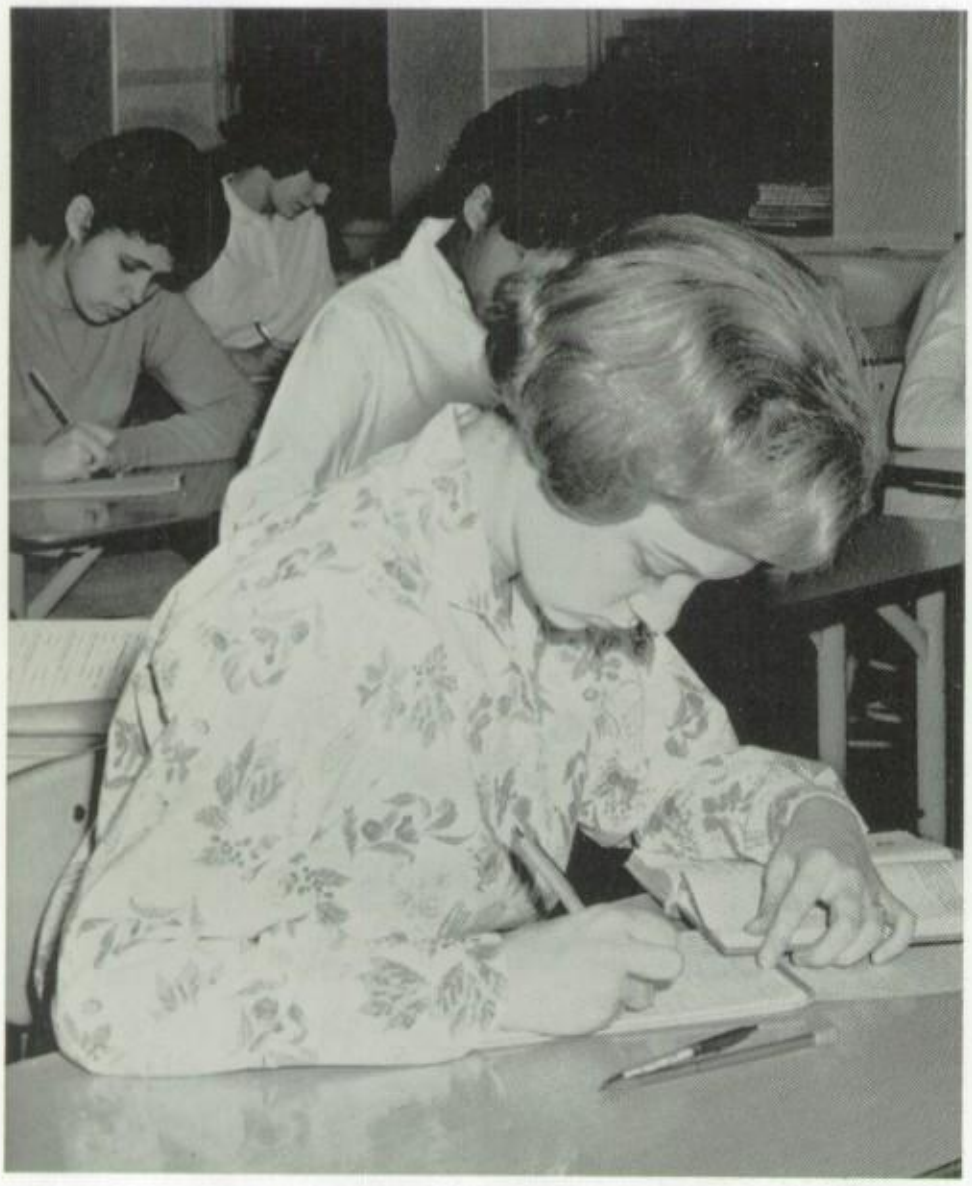
Business Fundamentals Stressed



Business education courses prepare students for a variety of futures. The courses give each student a basic understanding of skills necessary in business activities. Business courses in mathematics, English, sales and bookkeeping are invaluable to those who choose a commercial career; and typing shorthand, and notehand are a great advantage to any student.

Hardworking Terrie Dennis practices the techniques of shorthand.

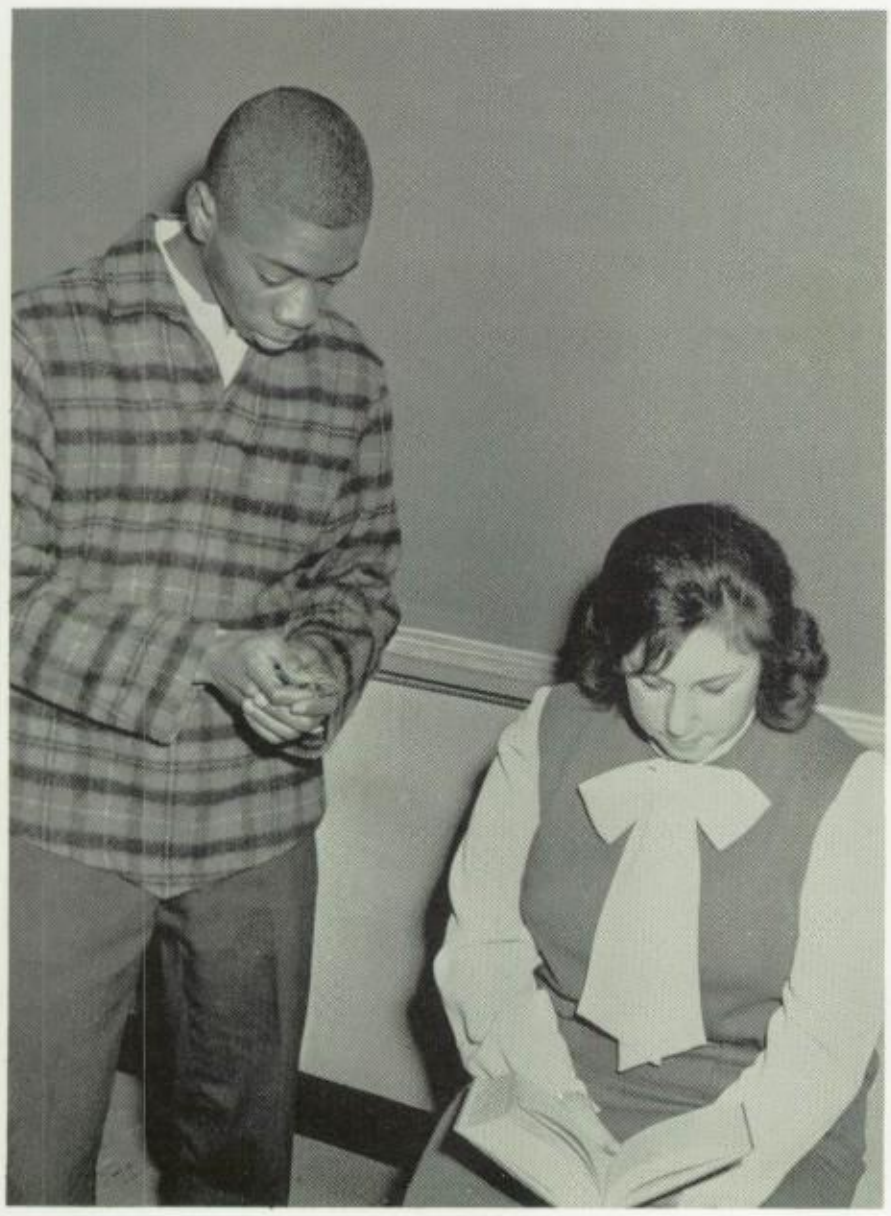
Mr. Barr looks on calmly as Mitch Siegel gets into the drivers' education car with Pam Frick and Steve Trott prepares to take the wheel.

Varied Skills Aid Pupils



Being timed by classmate Dan Muse, Bonnie Ripps practices the skills she has learned in rapid reading.

Drivers' education prepares students to be careful and conscientious drivers. Students learn the mechanics of the car, the operation of the car, and the rules for safe driving.

Rapid reading, a new course offered to seniors this year, helps the student accelerate his reading speed while increasing his comprehension in preparation for college or for personal satisfaction.

Searching the globe for one of the many countries studied in geography class are Marc Smith and Marilyn Ruth.

All stages of the civilization of man are thoroughly studied at Eastmoor. Sophomore world history courses explore the beginnings of civilization and its development throughout the world. In American history classes, juniors learn of their American heritage. Principles of Democracy, taken by seniors, serves to bring together, into one unit, all that has been previously studied and to expand upon it. Group discussions on topics such as marriage, prejudice, and current events are also important facets of the P.O.D. course.

In order to help students understand the physical structure of the world, many geography courses are offered. Eager students learn foreign customs as well as locations.

Social studies courses offer Eastmoor students the chance to build upon what has happened in the past, to understand the present, and to plan for the future.

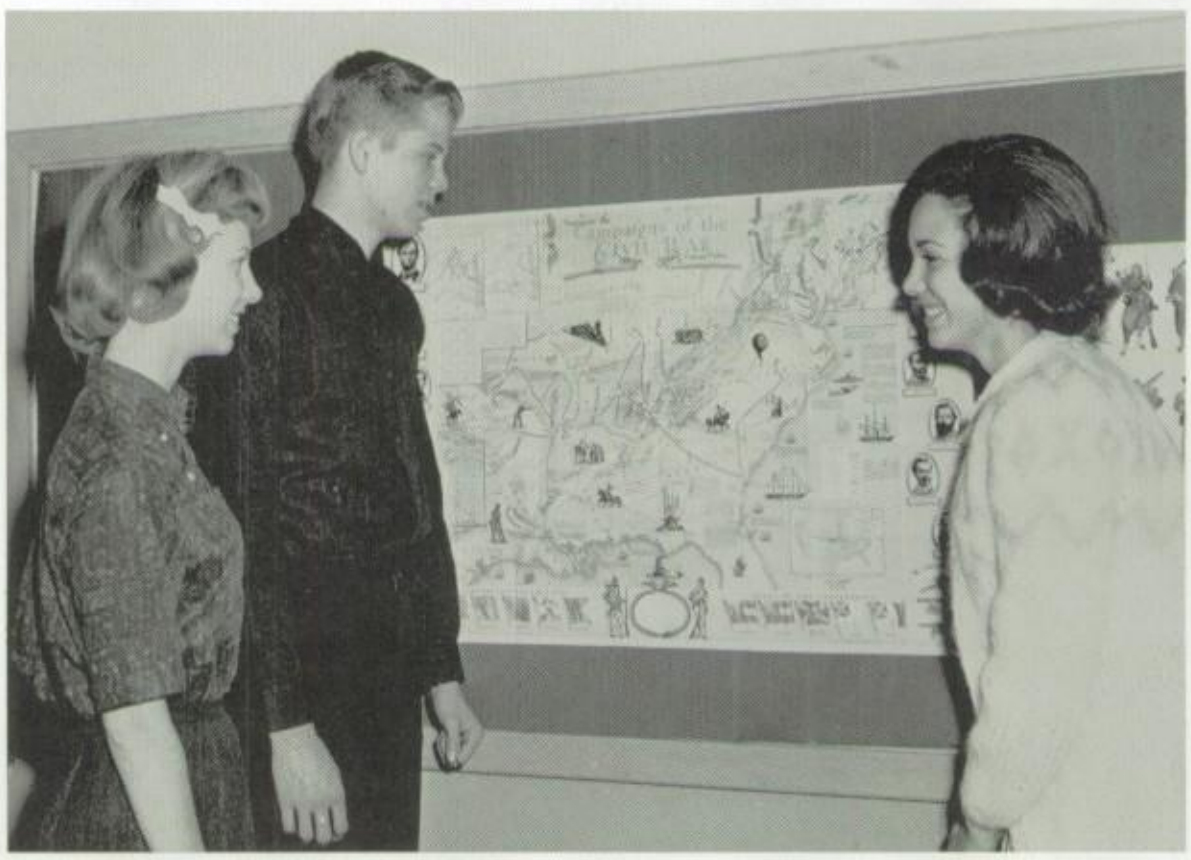
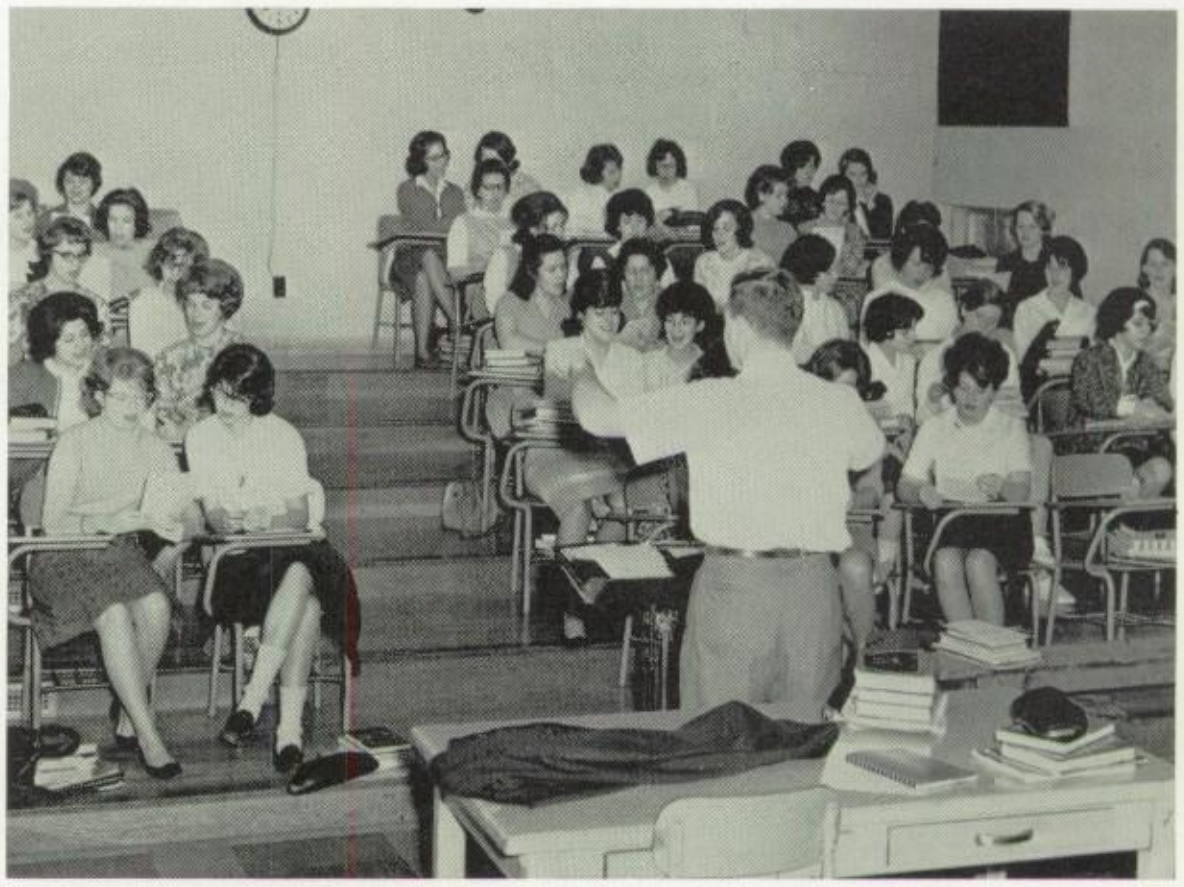
Students Learn From Past



One of Miss Glessner's interesting bulletin boards is enjoyed by American history students: (l. to r.) Sandy Lech, Leonard Silliman, and Gayle Greshemer.

Music, Art Provide Culture



Girls' Glee Club practices a new song under the direction of Mr. Morris.

Music is taught in many different guises at Eastmoor. From the choir and glee clubs to the marching band and dance band to the concert orchestra, students are taught a deeper appreciation for music.

Art courses offer the student a chance to express his creative ability. Stressing new ideas and new dimensions, art at Eastmoor gives the student a variety of forms of expression to explore.

Mr. Higbee and (l. to r.) Helen Pickles, Pat Lutsko, and Ralph Rosenfield (left) reclaim the clay that (l. to r.) Kathy Cook, Terry Morello, and Carol Armstrong use for their pottery projects (above).

Home Ec., Industrial Arts

In wood class, Gary Cochran learns the use of power machinery to complete his project.

In Industrial Arts, boys learn the fundamentals of woodworking and metal arts. Mechanical drawing and the art of graphic representation are taught to future engineers and draftsmen.

"Hold it steady, fellas," says Mike Hamilton as he pours molten lead into a mold.

Smiling as she thinks of the new dress that is going to be added to her wardrobe, Cindy Cole expertly cuts her material.

Prepare Students for Future

Home Economics offers a chance for the homemaker of tomorrow to thoroughly prepare herself for the future. Cooking, serving, sewing, and etiquette are the areas stressed in elective home economics classes.

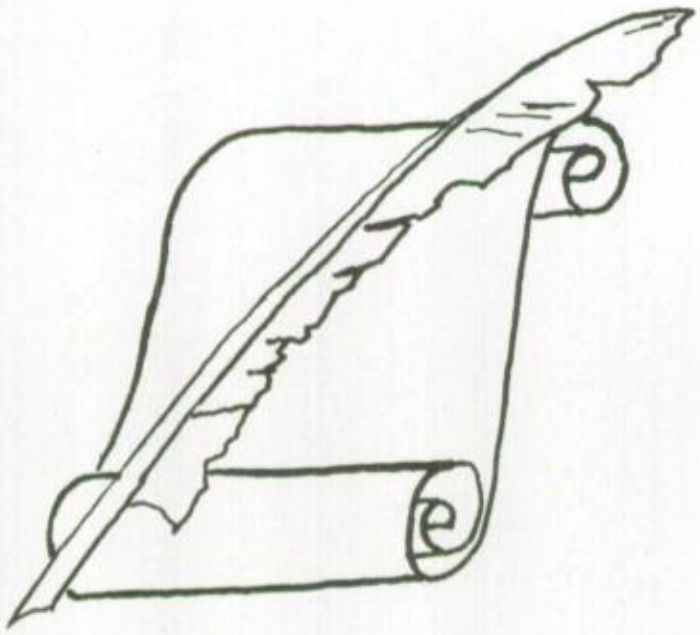
Trying their hands at making cupcakes, Stephanie Page and Bev Adams mix and measure the specified ingredients.



Quill and Scroll is the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. Membership is reserved for those outstandnig publications staff members who meet the basic requirements established by the Society and its Local Chapters. Candidates for Quill and Scroll membership must have demonstrated fully to the satisfaction of their staff advisor that they merit the award through high scholarship, journalistic achievement and service. They must be approved by the executive Secretary of the Society.

EHS Journalists Receive Honors

The fourteen publication staff members honored by election to Quill and Scroll are (l. to r.): (standing) Sherry Payne, Chuck Levinson, Steve Feuer, Renee Peppercorn, Mitch Seigel, Ed Beard, Sandy Boyer, and Mary Lusch. (seated) Rita Engelman, Cerie Schwartz, Judy Pler, Sue Sturgill, Joy Langerman, and Sue Israel.

36 Attain NHS Membership

Thirty-six members of the senior class were honored when they were tapped for membership in the Eastmoor Chapter of the National Honor Society at the National Honor Society Assembly on March 16.

Each Eastmoor senior who had a cumulative scholastic average for his first seven semesters of 3.2 was a candidate for membership. In addition to attaining high scholarship, each prospective member had to qualify equally well on the basis of constructive leadership, worthy character, and purposeful service to Eastmoor.

Grady Stem was elected to membership in the National Honor Society while attending Glasgow Senior High School in Glasgow, Montana. He continued as a fully qualified member here at Eastmoor.

PRESS TIME

STUDENT LIFE

Eastmoor is a busy community inhabited by eager students, good citizens, and earnest individuals. Working together and striving constantly to form a better school community, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, in their united efforts, hold the key to open the lock and push back the barrier that exists in any society.

In the classroom, in the halls, at an assembly, each individual student's day's activities blend into the whole that is Eastmoor Senior High.

The Day

The school day begins for most E.H.S. students at 9:00 in the morning, but several come early, at 8:00, for meetings or classes. Wide awake, expectant students greet friends and discuss homework as the school day is officially opened in homeroom.

Assemblies also take place in the morning. On days when assemblies occur, classes are shortened considerably to accommodate the assembly schedule.

Early in the morning, students walking, driving, or riding buses, come to school.

As the bell rings, students rush from their different homerooms to first period classes.

Lunch time is a much welcomed break in the school day. The cafeteria teems with hungry students who discuss the happenings and gossip of the day over their lunch bags or trays. Those who have finished eating can watch the noon movies, walk around outside, or stay in the cafeteria and visit with friends.

"Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink." These lines come to mind as thirsty Nan VanArsdale points to the broken water fountain.

Begins

During the lunch period, Daisy Ucko and Dave Wright stop to talk to hall monitor Judi George.

Visiting, eating, talking, Eastmoor students enjoy their lunch.

Chivalry is not dead at Eastmoor. Larry Frankel tries to aid Sue Sturgill, but unfortunately, he is not quick enough, and most of her term paper lands in the hall below.

After a relaxing lunch, students eagerly go back to work. Classes, pep rallies, and lectures combine to provide interesting as well as educational afternoons.

By spending an afternoon period in the library, Eastmoor students are able to do valuable research.

The Day Moves On

Using his hand to stop a light beam, Dave Praver experiments with the machinery brought to Eastmoor for a lecture as Donn Young looks on.

Chaos — Then Quiet

"Froggie, twang your magic twanger," recites Rita Engelman as she clowns around while doing her after school job of selling ads for the Shield.

The 3:30 bell signals the end of classes. Some students rush from their classrooms to their lockers, sometimes stopping to buy doughnuts or popcorn at a sale, and finally scurry to their buses or cars. But not everyone leaves school. Clubs and committees hold meetings; athletes compete; cheerleaders practice; "actors" and "musicians" rehearse. E.H.S. is an active community throughout the entire day.

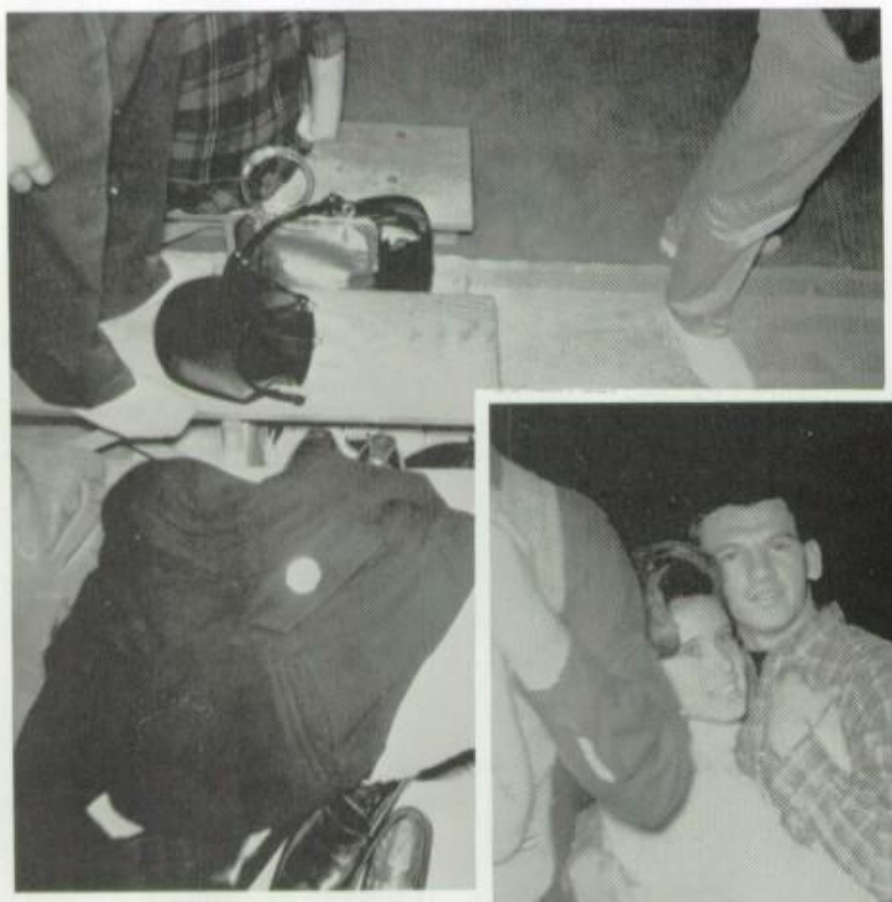
A fire extinguisher and empty hall monitor's chair stand guard over the deserted halls of E.H.S. With students and faculty gone for the day, the school waits patiently for their return.

Mr. Pursell's volunteers help prepare the scoreboard for a Friday night football game.

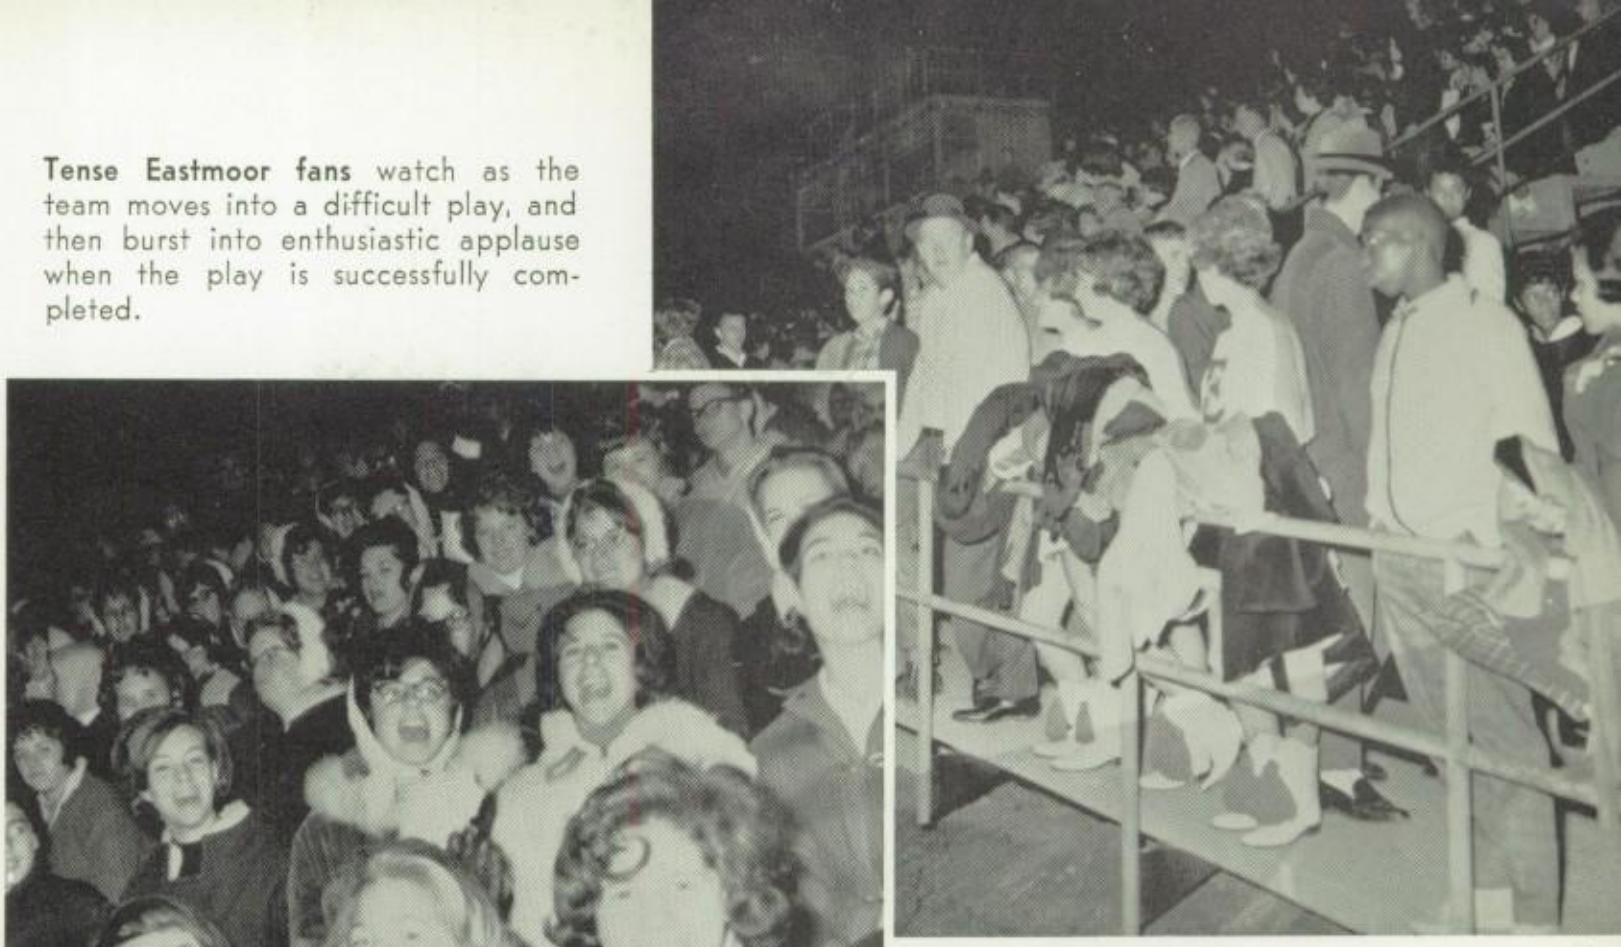
Extracurricular activities take place after school. At games, football and basketball, students display their school spirit and sportsmanship.

Plays, musicals, special programs, and the variety show held every other year, provide the student with cultural stimulation as an extension of classroom work and give him a chance to display his talent or appreciate that of his classmates.

Night Brings E.H.S.



Stockinged feet and happy smiles mark one of Eastmoor's many successful sock hops. Enjoying a dance after a game are: (l. to r.) Judi Newpoff, Jerry Parthemer, Marc Smith, and Renee Peppercorn.



Tense Eastmoor fans watch as the team moves into a difficult play, and then burst into enthusiastic applause when the play is successfully completed.

Flurry of Activities

At dances, semi-formal and sock hops alike, the student is able to become acquainted with his fellow students and enjoy himself under social conditions.

Eastmoor's wide range of extracurricular activities serves to expand upon the academic curriculum and round out the student's education.

Ticket seller or proceeds taker? It's hard to tell as a special duty patrolman "guards" Mr. Disbro.

SENIORS

The doors to Eastmoor High School have closed for the seniors, but many doors will be open to them as they travel into the world of opportunities and challenges. For twelve years the seniors have been molding the key that will unlock the door to their future. The key is made up of education. The classroom, homework, social activities, and responsibilities are notches on this key. Each senior has engraved his own notches so that his key will fit the lock to his individual door, which opens into his future. Now let us look through the keyhole and view the senior class of 1964.

"That's the big day," says Miss Miller as she points out our graduation day.

The Class of 1964, largest one ever, is the first class to graduate from Eastmoor Seniot High School. Our class is proud of our many "greats": we recieved five Letters of Commendation, fourteen students received honorable mention in the Ohio State Scholarship Test, an appointment to a Military Academy, and five All-City Football Squad Members. Yet as our honors are varied, so are our class members. We have received a many new students this year from all over the country and through the American Field Service we received a student from Brazil.

We will always remember our Class as the best.

UNDERCLASSMEN

The underclassmen are unlocking the doors of high school to a new world filled with friends, knowledge, ideals, and activities. The key of success is cast from knowledge. It is this key that must open the door to a happy and successful future. The key can be only as strong as each person makes it. On the following pages are the Eastmoor students who are still making their keys.

Look to Future

We are preparing to enter our last year of high school and leave behind our days as underclassmen.

We are looking to the day when we will assemble in the auditorium as the Class of 1965. We look with pride upon our achievements in athletics, dramatics and clubs.

As we think back over our year at EHS we recall with excitement the football, basketball, and baseball games; we can never forget the dances and social events that made our junior year complete.

That Younger Generation

As we entered Eastmoor for the first time, we were met with new faces, ideas, and surroundings. We will never forget the confusion and the adjusting we had to do as we moved from junior high to high school.

We have made ourselves known at Eastmoor in this, our first year of high school, and we hope to prove ourselves a credit to EHS in the next two years.

"We've got the class that is going far!"

Activities

Activities and organizations enable students to use the keys of knowledge, leadership, service, and experience. Through the well-guided use of these many fine dramatic and musical productions have been presented, many memorable hours in the company of friends have been spent, and many exciting, never-to-be-forgotten moments have been shared by the students of E.H.S.

ART SERVICE CLUB

Any student taking an art course is permitted to join the Art Service Club. The club purpose is to perform art services in the school. Mr. Higbee, head of the art department, advises the club.

Participants make posters for the school, decorate showcases, and help with other projects whenever needed.

Clubs Make Up Integral

Singers in the Bel Canto Club hit the note which accompanist, Linda Bless, strikes. Mr. Morris listens to (l. to r.) Diane DeLong, Rhea Sausland, Pat Barr, and Barbara Barr.

BEL CANTO CLUB

To further musical activities in school and to work toward musical development is the chief aim of the Bel Canto Club.

Mr. Morris, the advisor, encourages members to appreciate finer music by study and observation.

CHESS CLUB

Chess Club members, advised by Mr. Buck, learn the fundamentals of chess. They compete against each other and participate in inter-school tournaments.

Each student is individually helped with any problem he has in a practice chess game. The club presents one of the most interesting hobbies for anyone who wishes to learn to play.

Two Chess Club players intrigued in their game are Sandy Aldrich (l) and Kim Smart.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Teaching, one of the most vital and interesting careers for individuals today, is the main thought of all members of the FTA. Miss Glessner spends much free time advising the club.

Senior members do substitute teaching in area grammar schools.

Programs include speakers from the field of education, movies of FTA, and doughnut sales.

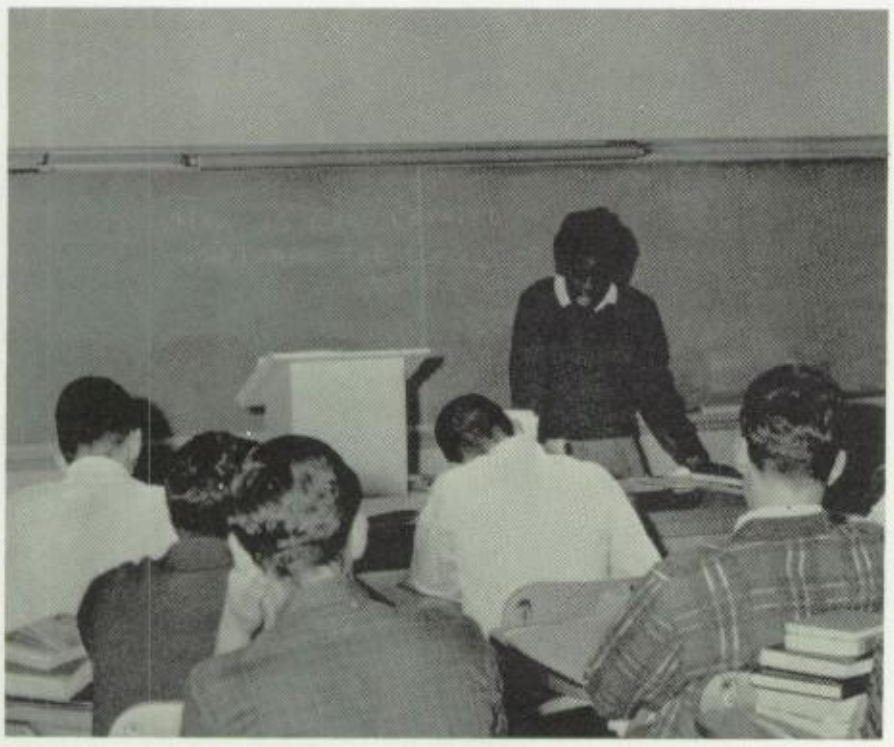
Part of Student Activities



Debate Club members listen to a speech given by Faythe Mays.

DEBATE CLUB

The purpose of the Debate Club is to provide experience in speaking and debating through participating in programs with other schools. Mr. Hientz advises the club and its officers who are Ira Sully, president; Jerry Gerard, vice-president; and Faythe Mays, secretary.

Every member takes an active part in the programs. The students learn to be relaxed and effective in public speaking.

DRAMATICS CLUB

Club members participate in all dramatic activities at Eastmoor. Through the Dramatics Club, students can earn points toward the honorary dramatics organization, The Masquers Club. Mr. Keiser, head of the dramatics department, advises the club. Officers are Ron Steelman, president; Grace Gerard, vice-president; Judy Van Kirk, treasurer; and Linda Russ and Sharon Williams, secretaries.

Performing a skit for the Dramatics Club are members, Terry Keefe (l) and Gary Covel.

Health Career Club members listen to a speaker at an important meeting.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

To develop interest in sports and learn more about different sports is the chief goal of the G.A.A. the club promotes participation in team and recreational activities. Mrs. Welch advises the officers Angie Richardson, president; Joyce Yake, vice-president; Lani Robbins, secretary; Dee Pilkington, treasurer; and Rita Hoffman, sergeant-at-arms.

HI-Y

To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home and school common high standards of Christian character is the purpose of the Hi-Y Club. Officers are Mike Davis, president; Bill Puskas, vice-president; Bob Reese, secretary; Jerry McFarin, treasurer; and Don Smith, chaplain.

HEALTH CAREERS

Co-advisors Miss Kies, R.N., and Mrs. Wilson instruct the club members in the fields of nursing and medicine. Students in the club learn about different medical careers which helps them to choose vocations.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The aim of the International Club is to stimulate interest in the different modern language courses, and to study the political, economic, and social aspects of the countries involved. Chico DeMello, our Brazilian foreign exchange student, is an active member. Guests from around the world speak to the club. The club promotes good will through its programs.

Co-advisors Mr. Steele and Mrs. Bringewald proudly view the officers of the International Club, Pam Flora, president; Renee Peppercorn, secretary; and Chico DeMello, vice-president.

Latin Club members say of Eastmoor, "E Pluribus Unum!"

LATIN CLUB

Promoting interest and participation in the Junior Classical League and Latin is the chief goal of the Latin Club.

Any student taking Latin is invited to join. Participants learn about the history and the development of the language.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club encourages study in higher mathematics. Members, advised by Mr. Shurlow, learn to solve problems of high caliber. They study graphs, equations, the slide rule, and many other interesting phases of math.

OUTDOORS CLUB

To promote interest and enjoyment in outdoor activities is the chief aim of the Outdoor Club. Members get plenty of exercise through activities like bicycle hikes and roller skating parties. During club meetings participants watch movies, have demonstrations, and listen to speakers.

PHILATELIC CLUB

The object of the Philatelic Club is to discuss and learn ways to acquire, handle, mount and display stamps.

RED CROSS CLUB

SAFETY CLUB

Mr. Barr, the advisor of the Safety Club, works with the students who are interested in promoting good driving habits and safety procedures. In addition to learning the techniques of driving, the members study the mechanics of automobiles.

Taking a brief rest from service work are Red Cross officers (l. to r.) Steve Kessler, vice-president; Sheryl Knapp, president, and Alice Stricker, secretary.

Y-TEENS CLUB

Y-Teens at Eastmoor join with girls all over the world to learn through the Y-Teen goals a) how to grow as a person, b) how to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities, and c) how to grow in the knowledge and love of God. Miss Secrest and Mrs. Newcomb are the co-advisors of the organization.

TRACK CLUB

The Track Club encourages boys to participate in track at Eastmoor. It enhances the member's knowledge of track and field and it aids in preparation of facilities for meets. Mr. Cahill, the advisor, shows films of track practice and meets. The boys view the movies and learn to improve themselves through experience.

SERVICE CLUB

The chief aim of the club is to teach members how to plan and serve at parties, dinners, and other social occasions which a teenager may attend. Tips on make-up, grooming, posture, and date etiquette are also included.

Members are eligible for ushering for school plays, public programs, senior commencement, and helping with PTA events. Miss Singer is the advisor.

EHS Has Many

Eastmoor's service-minded students spend much of their time assisting the faculty and staff by performing various jobs.

Hall monitors give directions to school visitors and maintain order in the halls while classes are in session.

Printing helpers, advised by Mr. Barnes, make tickets and programs for our assemblies, dances, and plays.

Nurses helpers aid students with small cuts and bruises. They help Miss Keis, R.N., in locating the students that she wishes to see.

Cafeteria helpers assist Mrs. Jay in serving food, washing dishes and trays, and working as cashiers.

Audio-visual helpers set up and run the projector, record players, and tape recorders for any teacher who requests them. Mr. Byrnes supervises these boys.

Helpers Play

Radio-room operators direct all programs and announcements to the school. They tape programs for the music department and help with presentations of the dramatics department.

Bookroom helpers mark, select, and supply books for the approximately twelve hundred students. They also return lost books to the pupils.

Boys and Girls gym assistants serve as important parts in our gym classes. They take class attendance and help set up necessary sports equipment, thus

Marching Band

One of the biggest and most active organizations around school is our excellent marching band. They perform during halftime at the football games. For fund-raising events they sell candy in the school area, birthday calendars, and they sponsor sock hops after games.

Many members of the band receive superior ratings in contests held locally and state-wide.

Good planning and interested ambitious students are two of the keys to the band's success.

Mr. Jerry Kaye serves as band leader for this active group.

Directed by Mr. Morris, the Senior Choir is one of our leading and most active groups about school.

The choir participates in all of our musical programs—the Christmas assembly and caroling in the halls, PTA meetings, the Easter program, and numerous others. Members performed, individually and in the chorus of "Annie Get Your Gun," our 1964 spring musical. They also took part in a city-wide high school choir program and in many contests which measured their great capability as an enthusiastic organization.

Looking forward to being members of the Senior Choir are those who are in the Tenth grade choir. They also perform at our annual Christmas assembly and take part in many of our musical exhibitions. Mr. Morris conducts these vocal talents.

Members of the Senior Choir are, First row (l. to r.): Harriet Dupler, Nancy Kommesar, Cheryl Barnes, Salli Seckel, Mary Schaeffer, Terry Dennis, Kendra Hovis, Pam Paxton, Mary Etta Bacon, and Jerry Goodman. Second row (l. to r.): Sue Huffman, Raymond Jones, Bill Gordon, Mr. Morris, advisor, Pat Barr, Neal Milnor, Birdie Colegrove, Carter Brown, and Gene Parrish. Third row (l. to r.): Linda Yanevich, Bill Berkhiemer, Carol Gurevitz, Roger Masten, Susan Leach, Rick Hoskinson, Dave Morris, and Tom Brinker. Fourth row (l. to r.): Roberta Becker, JoEllen McClure, Mike Marshall, Carol Andre, Jim Miller, Pam Penry, Eric Stocker, Jeri Edwards, Marilyn Mize, Marge Leppein, Jerry Groves, Sandy Laile, Danny Hearl, and Merrylee Moreen.

Another successful variety show, "Hits and Misses," by Eastmoor's music department was performed December 5 and 6, 1963. The expert singing and dancing enthralled the audience throughout the show. The live instrumental accompaniment was provided by the Kaye-dettes, featuring original arrangements by Ted Turner and Neal Milnor. Mr. Morris and Mr. Kaye, assisted by Mr. Barr, are responsible for co-ordinating this fine show.

"George Washington Slept Here," a comedy in three acts, was presented by the dramatics department of Eastmoor in the school auditorium April 5 and 6, 1963.

The entire action of the play took place in an old stone Pennsylvania farmhouse that dates back to Revolutionary days. Written by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, the play was performed superbly under the direction of Mr. Keiser.

The fascinating stage sets were built, painted, and decorated by members of our dramatics classes. The cast included Lee Sharpless, Mike Kapson, Wynne Justice, Sue Douthit, Phil Wilson, Judy Pilzer, Janet Dennison, Earl Sheets, Carol Levy, Grace Gerard, Fred Portman, Ron Steelman, Craig Bergman, Stu Tishkoff, Sharon Coombs, Carol Andre, and Roy Arnett. The hard-working student directors were Linda Russ and Andrea Gorenstein.

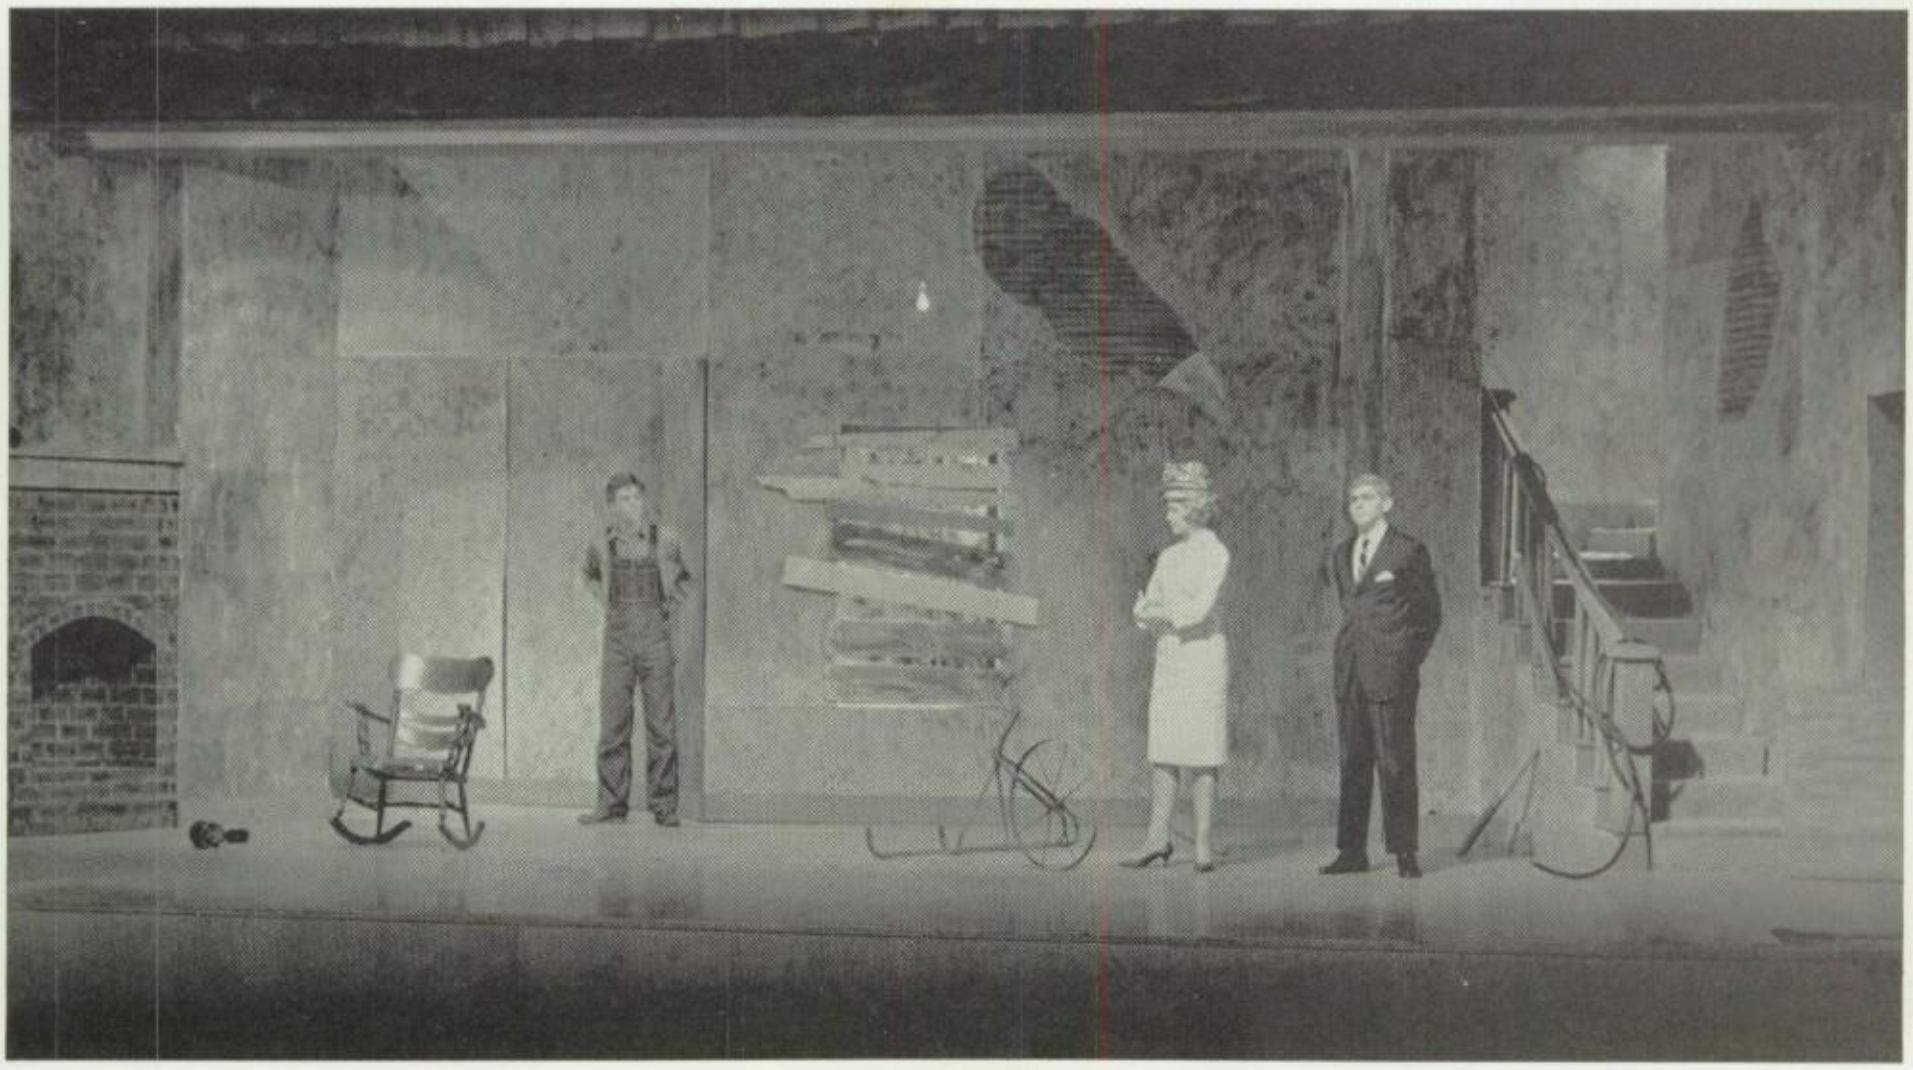
Newton Fuller, Mike Kapson, instructs farm hand Mr. Kimber, Lee Sharpless, where to put the plow.

Comedy Delights Audiences

The living room of the old home in which George Washington slept was a remarkable set. This was one of the highlights of the play.



Gramps, Ron Steelman, proudly displays a frog specimen to Aunt Demetria, Grace Gerard.

Eastmoor's fall presentation, "On Borrowed Time," a comedy-drama in two acts, was performed November 8 and 9, 1963. The play, written by Paul Osborn, captivated the audiences both nights.

The enthralling events of the play took place in the living room and the back yard of the Northrup home. The stage set was erected, painted, and decorated by members of our dramatic classes and our dramatic club.

The product of Mr. Keiser's fine directing ability was the magnificent performance which was presented. Student directors, Anita Son and Sharon Williams, worked diligently throughout rehearsals to help make the play a success. Members of the cast were Ron Steelman, Billy Rosenfield, Linda Russ, Mike Marshall, Carol Andre, Grace Gerard, Terry Keefe, Steve Pinsky, Ken Sprang, Stuart Tishkoff, Roger Scher, and Bob Benedict. The cast did an outstanding acting job.

Hard work, co-operation, and organization are the key factors to the success of our 1964 SHIELD.

Each section editor set out to establish his part of the yearbook as the best. Numerous pictures were taken. The staff collected all types of information for copy from teachers and fellow students. Working on school vacations became a habit with the staff. At last the deadlines were met. We hope that this SHIELD is one that you will long remember

It would have been very difficult for us to have published this yearbook without the help of Mr. Condit's fine photography. Deep appreciation goes to Mr. Foose for spending much of his time with the business section of our annual.

Each member of the SHIELD Staff extends his gratitude to Mrs. Gall for her patience and guidance with us throughout the year.

The EASTMOOR CHARIOT, our student newspaper, carries information of all news occurrences around the school, local and national, sports events, organizations, and special features. Students receiving honors are also paid recognition.

A new phase of the paper is a column for Letters to the Editor. Any student who wants to express his feelings is permitted to do so in a note to the editors. Commercial advertising is another addition; it helps to pay printing costs and lowers the price of the CHARIOT for the student.

New editors are appointed for every edition. The Journalism class serves as reporters; and as co-editors of various pages. Mrs. Gall who is the head of the journalism department assists the group with their problems.

Student Court at Eastmoor is an important part of the student government of the school. Its purpose is to promote high standards of citizenship among the members of the student body.

The court consists of three members of the junior class and four members of the senior class elected during the preceding school year. Candidates for Student Court must be recognized as good examples of school citizens.

The Student Court brings to trial cases concerning students who violate school rules or policies. A summons before the court can be given by a faculty member, a student council member, or a hall monitor while he is on duty.

The usual penalties used by the court will be reprimand, probation, detention or referral to the principal. The court is under the guidance of Mr. John Condit.

EHS Students Promote Good Citizenship

Eastmoor's Student Council is another important section of our student government. Its purpose—to work toward betterment of our school and toward the service of our community; to assist in the establishment and promotion of a loyal school spirit; to maintain high standards of good citizenship; and to provide an opportunity for the discussion of vital questions pertaining to students and faculty.

Officers for the following year are elected by the entire student body during the first week in April of the preceding school year. Every homeroom elects a student to represent them on the council.

Student Council sponsors many of our school activities such as the annual homecoming dance; a good-will project of gift-giving at Christmas and Thanksgiving when all students are asked to bring canned goods to school for needy families; and they also sponsor a locker clean up.

Miss Victoria Miller acts as the advisor to the council.

Eastmoor's 1963 Homecoming week-end proved to be one of the school year's most gala events.

The football team delighted the returning alumni as well as the enthusiastic students when they defeated North High School, 24 to 12.

Adding to the excitement of the evening was the half-time ceremony. The five anxious candidates for Homecoming Queen who had arrived with their escorts in open convertibles before the game were

Sports

Sports unlock the door to the American way of life. Sportsmanship learned at Eastmoor is a big notch on the key to a successful future. Those who participate in sports at Eastmoor are taught not only the skill itself but the importance of team work, the spirit of competition, how to be a humble winner and gracious loser, and the way to live congenially with others.

Captains Marc Smith, Jerry Myers, and John Ranft

Warriors

Injuries,

It is not often that an Eastmoor football team has a losing season. When they have one, there must be reasons for it. The reasons this year were mostly the lack of experience and injuries throughout the season.

Many sophomores and juniors with a lack of game experience stepped into the starting lineup and had to learn while they were in the game.

A key injury for the Warriors was Marc Smith's knee injury in the third game. The quarterback was lost for the balance of the season. Jerry Groves, a junior, filled in at that position and did a good job.

Ron Bollie, Dan Goldberg, Mike Gornall, Steve Howell, and John Ranft were selected to honorable mention on the All-City squad highlighting the season. All but Ranft are returning next year.

With these players back next year, the Warriors are likely to return to prosperity in 1964.

Coach Courtney and Gary Edison, managers, watch as the varsity players warm up before the game.

Compile Good Record

The varsity basketball team compiled an 8-10 record during the '63-'64 cage season. The team held a 5-6 record in league play.

Pacing the team was Steve Howell, the leading scorer and rebounder. Steve was honored with a berth on the All-City first team. He averaged 20.3 points a game and was one of the leading rebounders in the city.

Jerry Groves was the playmaker of the squad, but he also found time to average 12.5 points a game. Groves was named to Honorable Mention All-City.

Gary Cochran, a sophomore, was the second leading rebounder and also chipped in with some important points.

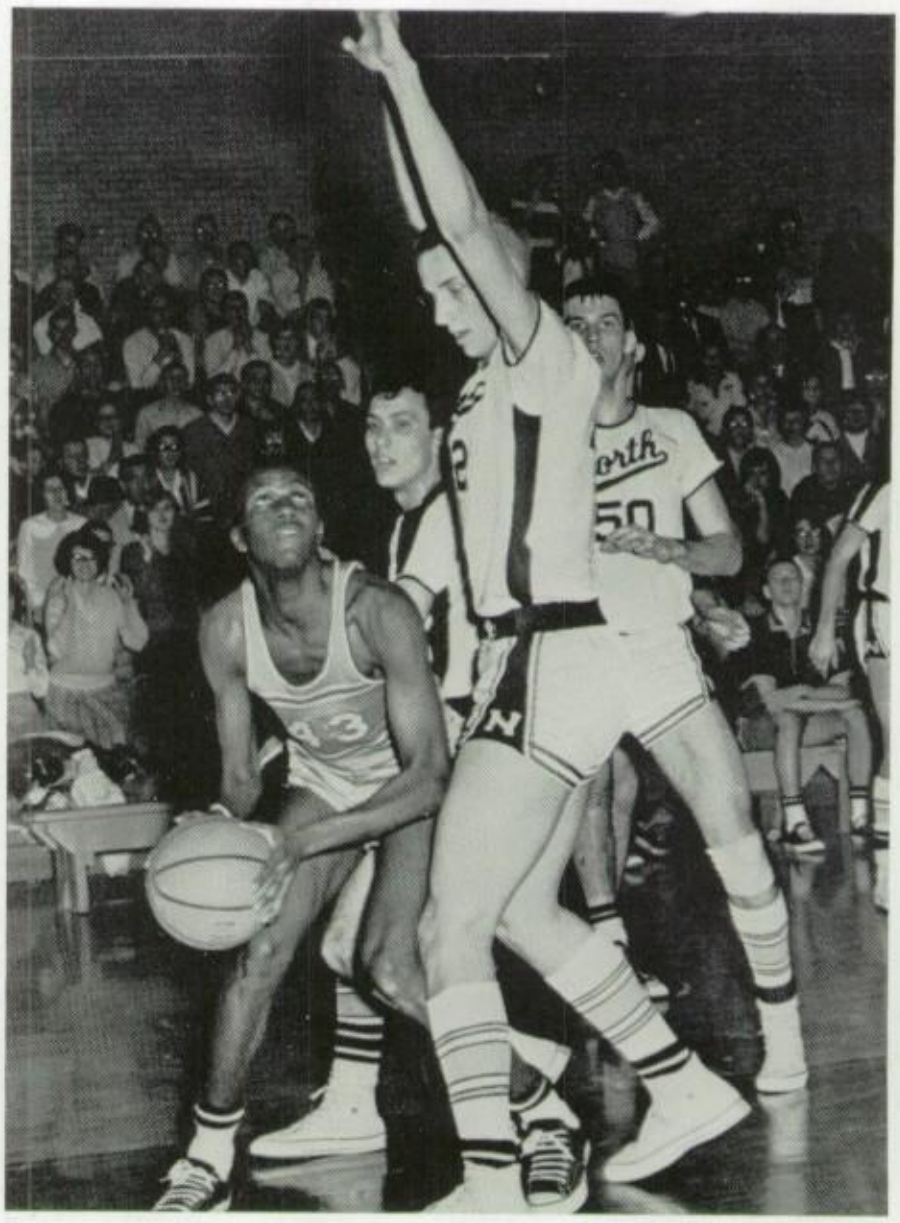
Ron Bollie and Cecil Newlin rounded out the starting five. Both boys were sharp-shooters and contributed points when they were needed.

Ron Hodge and Doug Cromer were top cagers also. Both came off the bench to play as well as the starters.

Hodge and Newlin captained the varsity cagers and were the only two playing seniors on the squad.

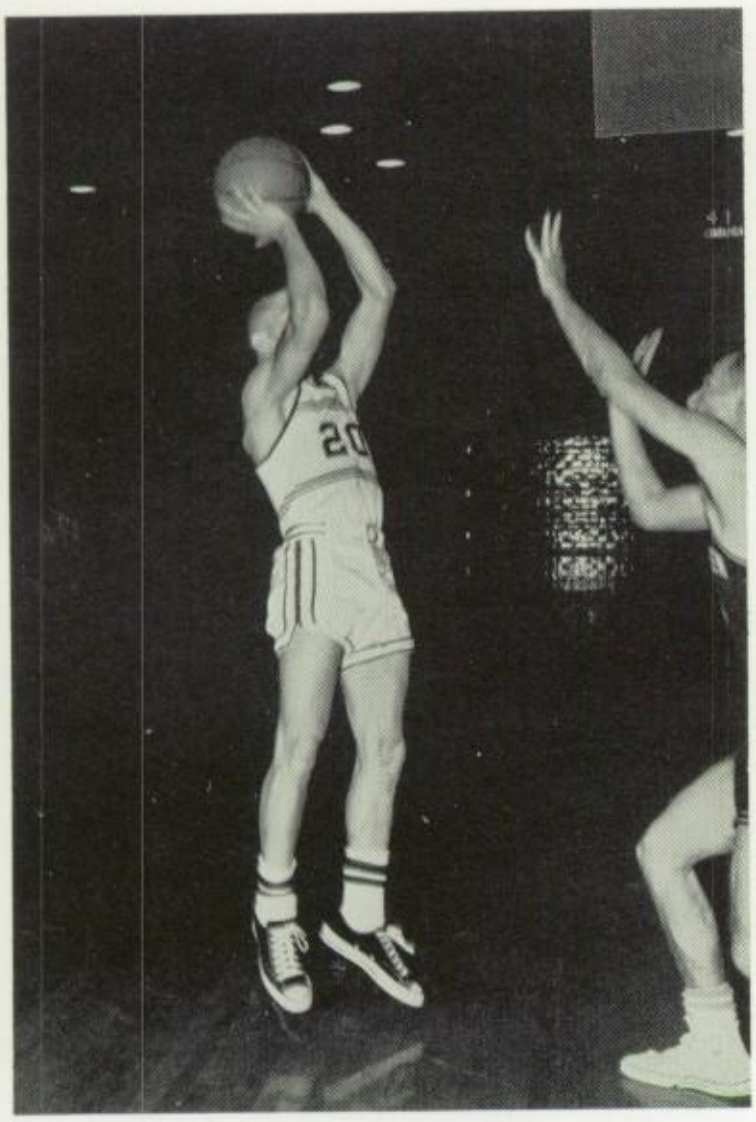
Coach William Courtney is very pleased that Howell, Bollie, Groves, Cochran, and Cromer will be returning next year. With this group coming back next season, Eastmoor should be a top contender for the city title next year.

Stuffing in another two points is Steve Howell.

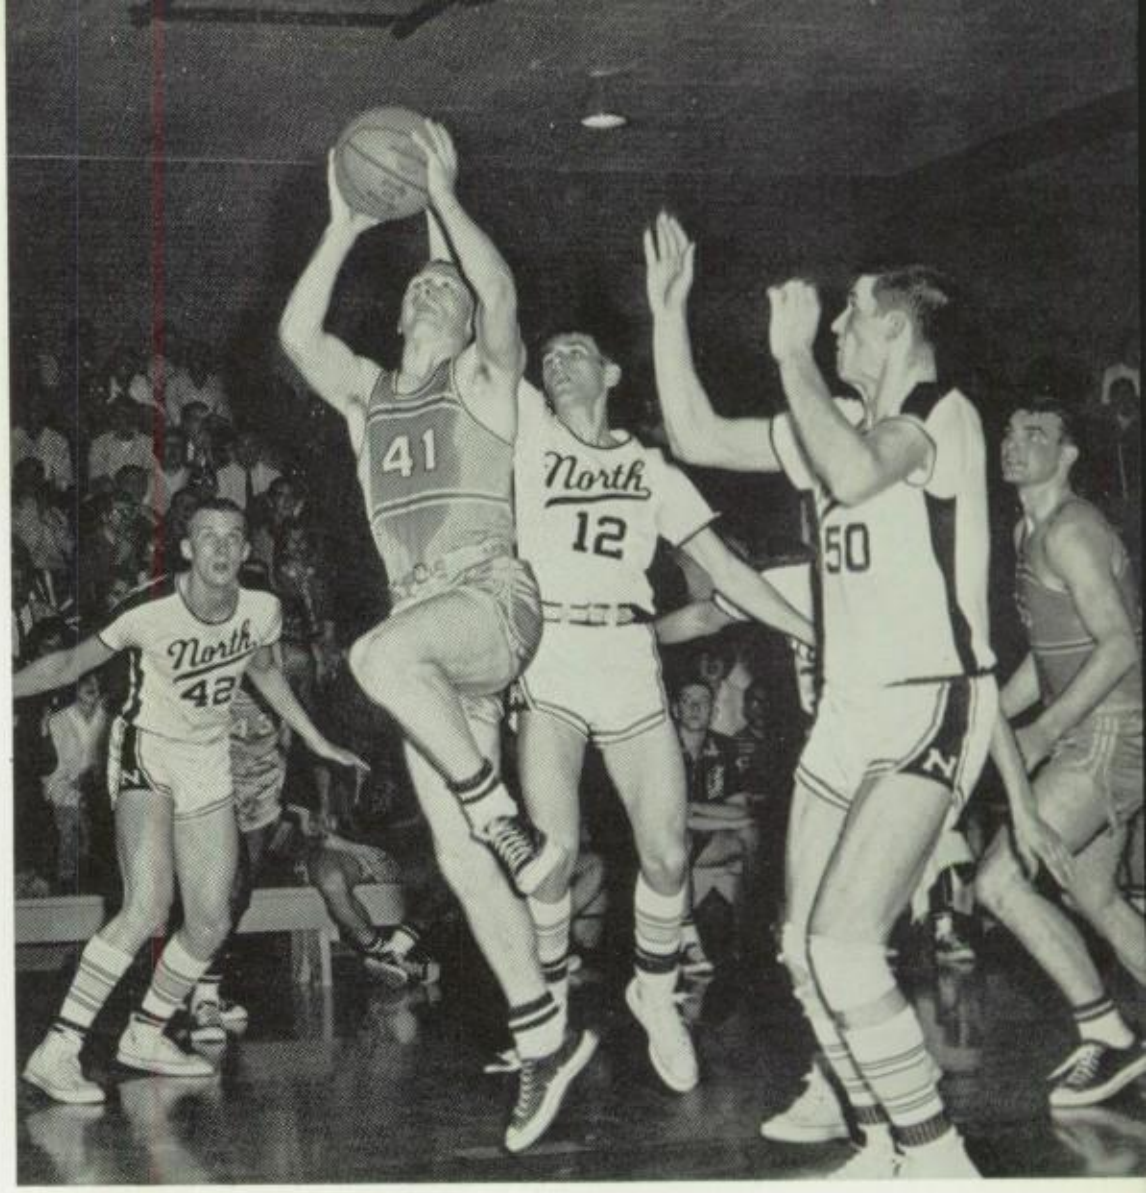


Gary Cochran has trouble getting around a stubborn North player.

Doing the "Monkey," Cecil Newlin drives in for a lay-up ahead of all of the North players.



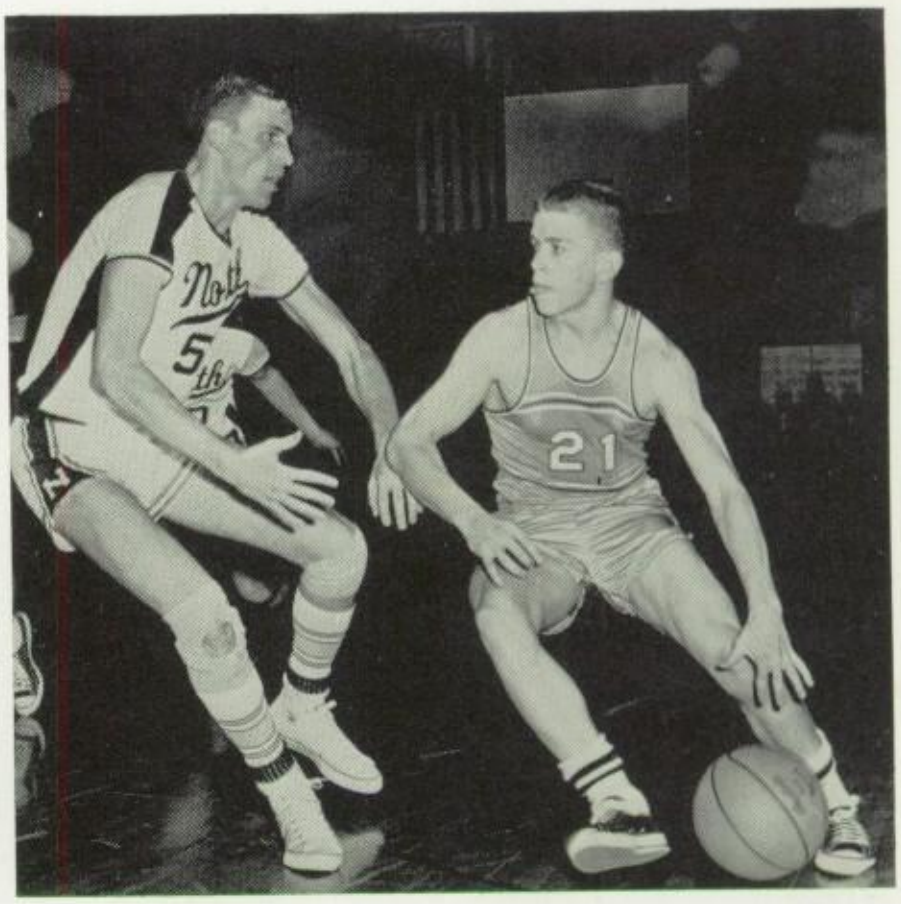
Jerry Groves pumps another long jump shot as a Brookhaven defender attempts to stop him.



Playing hard, Ron Bollie takes a shot as two North players close in.

Cagers Knuckle Down

"Betcha' I scared you, ha ha ha," says Jerry Groves as he sticks his tongue out at an opposing North player.



"Oops, I think I lost something," gasps Steve Howell as he goes after the ball.

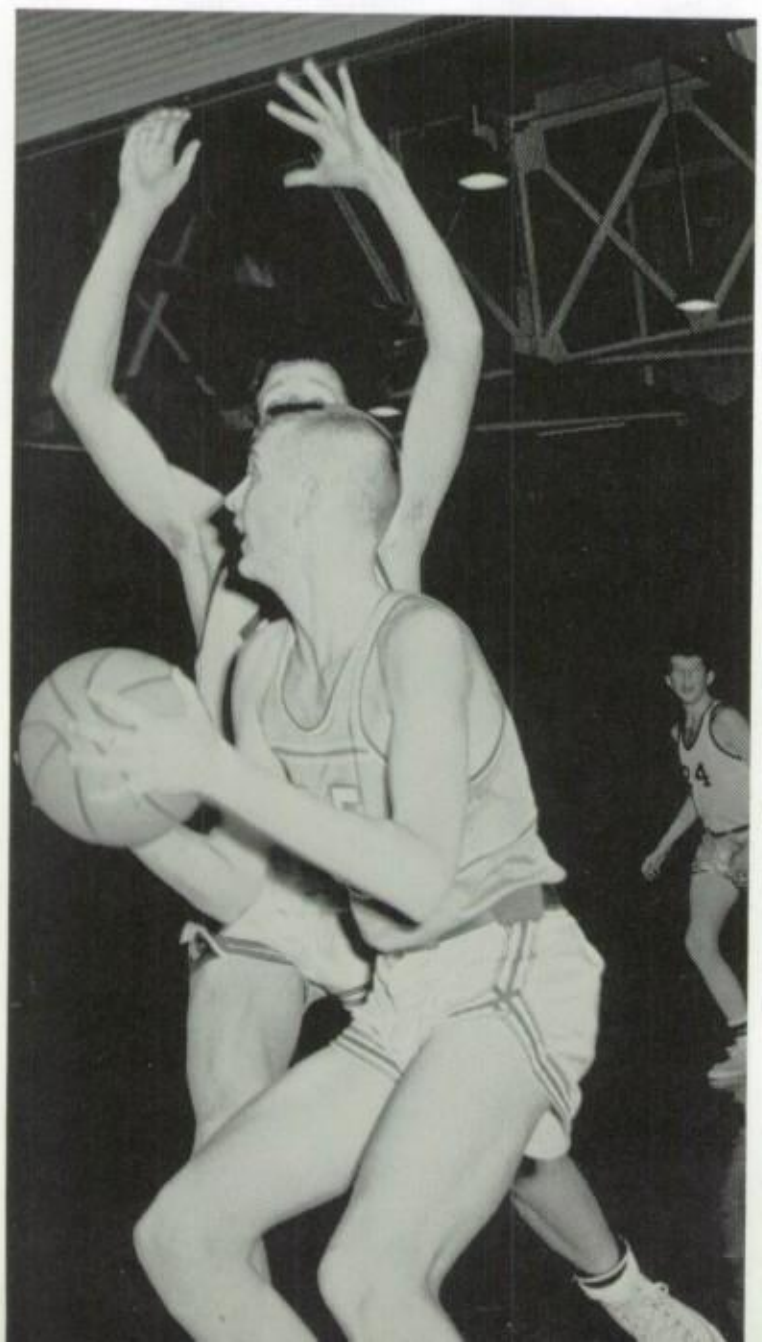
Allen, Cooper Pace Reserves

Tom Cooper wards off a North player as he ducks in for two.



Although the reserve team did not have a very impressive record, they did play many close games. The team finished with a 2-14 record. The purpose of a reserve team is to let the players gain experience for the future varsity. Mike Allen and Tom Cooper were the two leading scorers for the team. Robert Stuart was the coach of the reserve team.

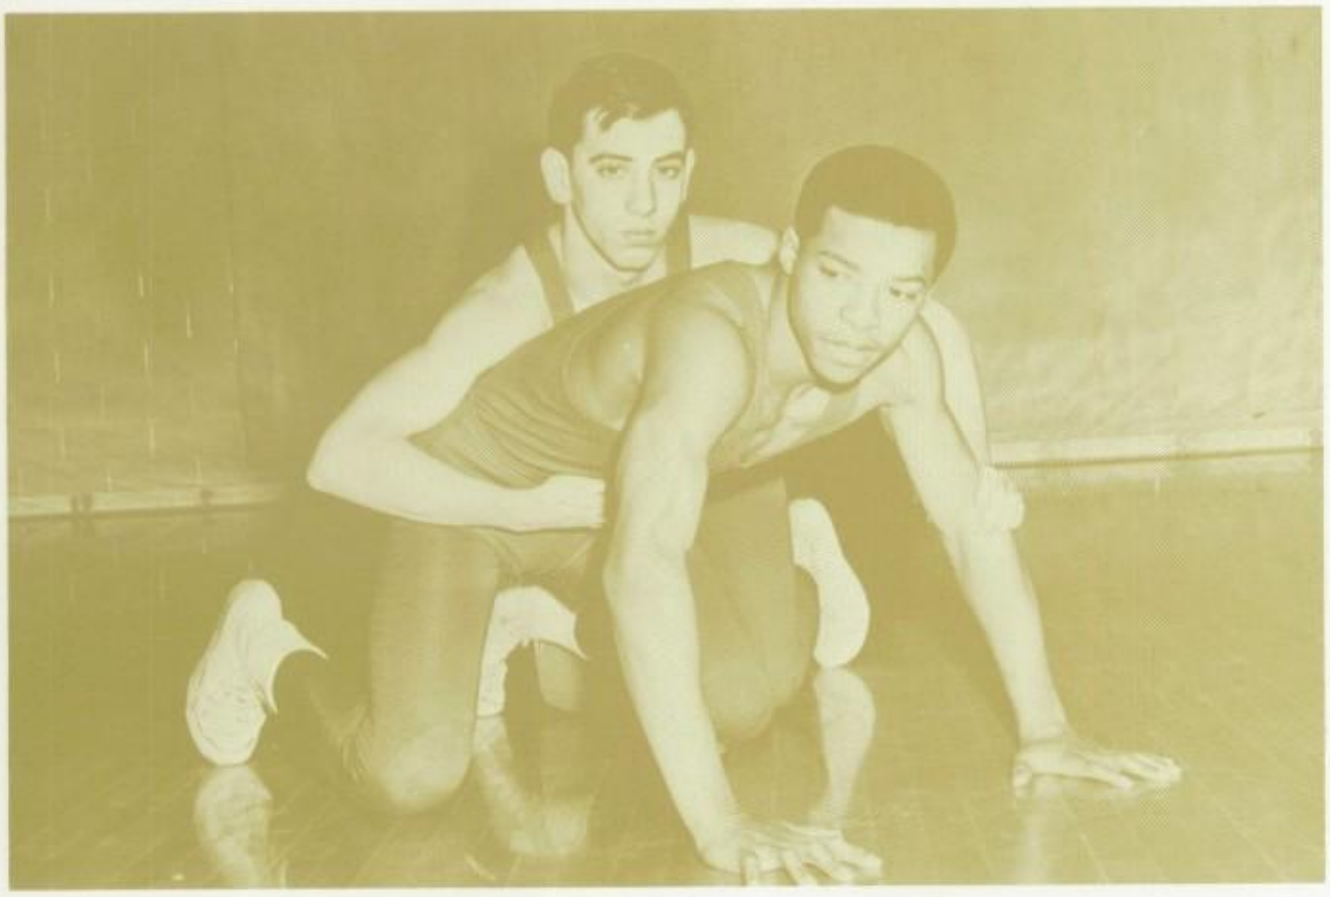
Grapplers Have Great Season



Roy Leonard demonstrates his winning touch on Leon Willis.

Eastmoor can be proud of their wrestling team this year, the finest in the school's history. Coach Ferrell's grapplers had a 10-3 record, finished second in the city meet, and for the first time sent a representative to the state meet at Ohio State on March 13-14.

The State qualifier was Roy Leonard, in the 103 pound class, who had a record of 21-4 during the season. His many credits are: City Champ, runner up in the District, and second in the East High School Invitational. Roy will return next year.

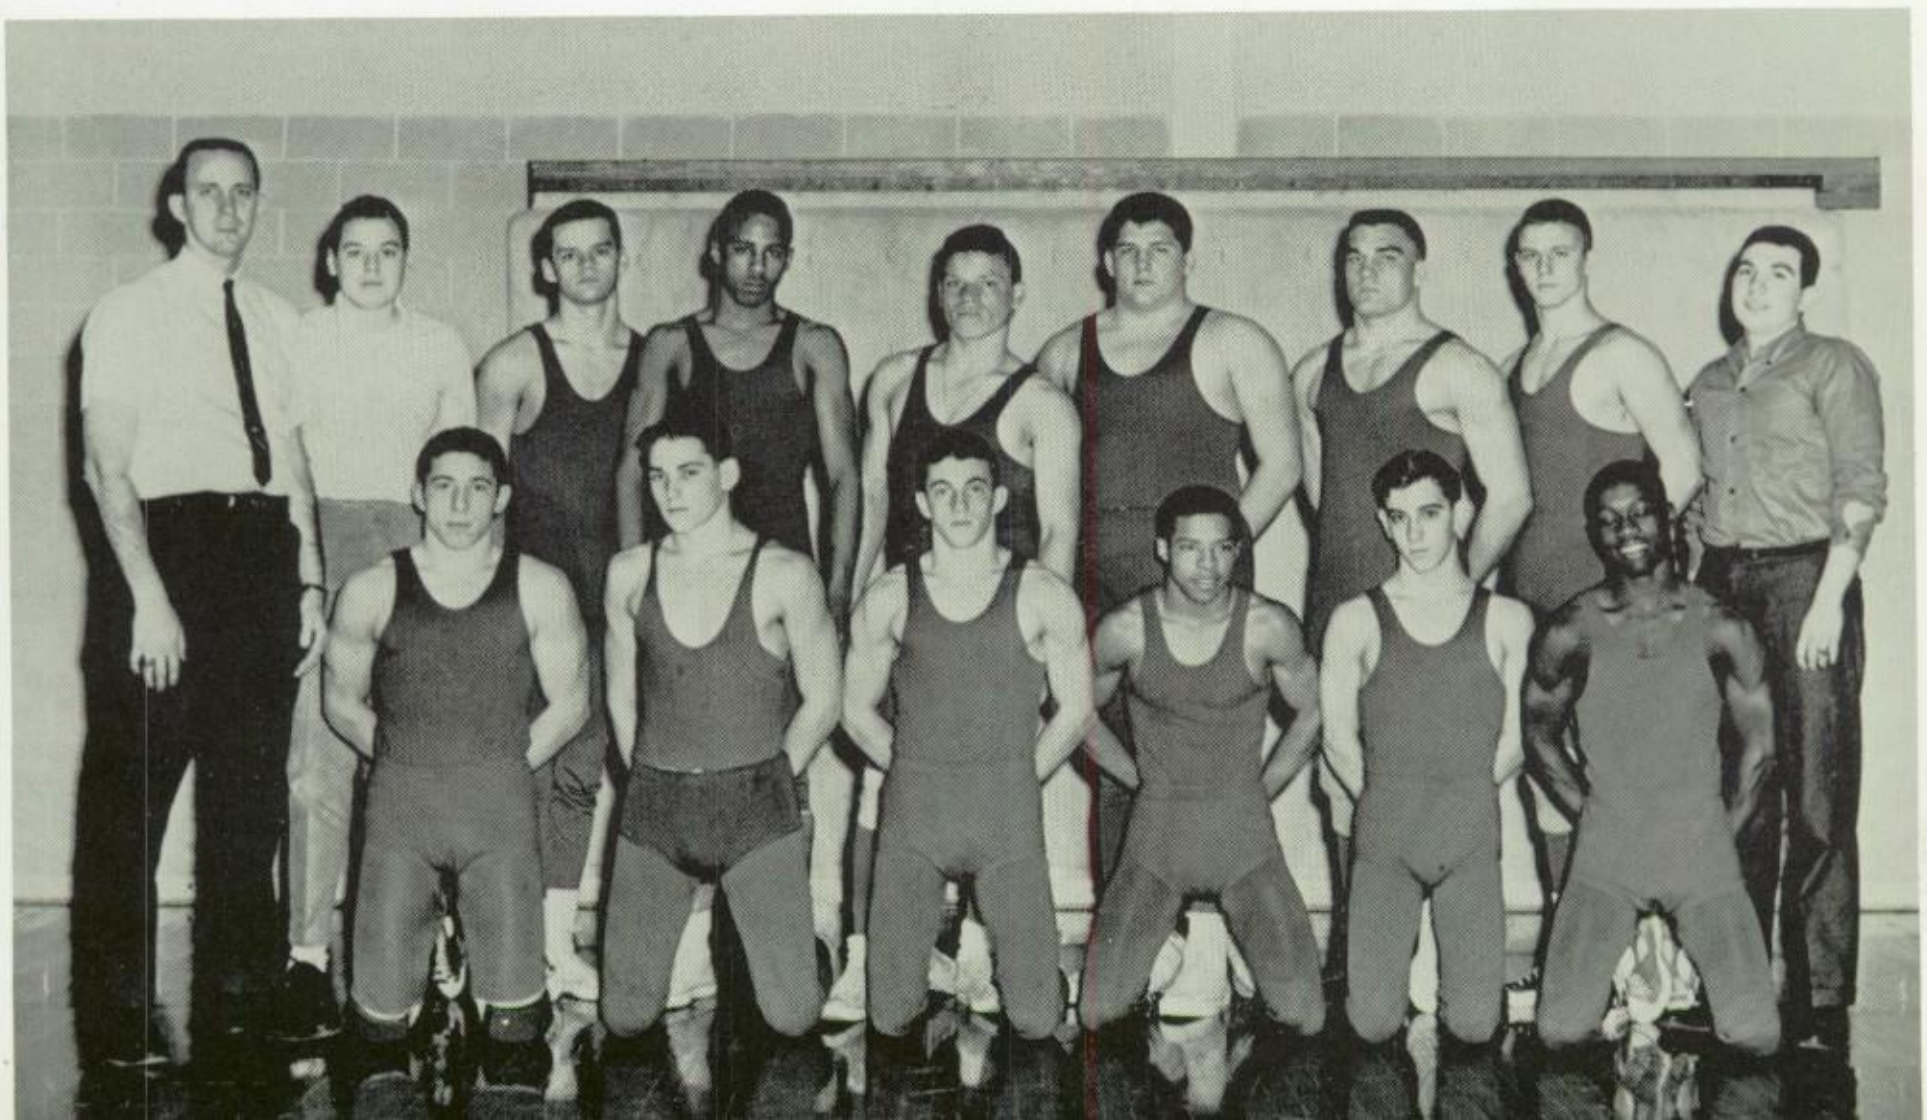
The varsity wrestling team included, Bottom row (l. to r.): Dan Goldberg, Mike Sullivan, Wayne Ballantyne, Leon Willis, Roy Leonard, and Vincent Rutledge. Top row (l. to r.): Coach Jim Ferrell, manager Jay O'Neill, Mike Grelle, Petey Johnson, Richard Blunt, Bob Whiteman, Dave Morris, Mike Gornall, and manager Ira Sully.



Coach Marsh Mobberly seems to be on his way to help the umpire make his decision.

Warriors Capture

The 1963 baseball team, coached by Marsh Mobberly, chalked up a 16-4 record and were 1963 Central District Co-Champs. Eastmoor and West were the survivors of a beginning group of forty-five teams in the district. Both teams represented the Central District in the regionals at Radnor, Ohio, and both lost. Eastmoor lost to Lima Senior, which went to the state finals only to lose to Euclid.

Highlighting the season for the Warriors was a brilliant pitching staff. It was headed by strong-armed southpaw Jerry Myers. Jerry compiled a record of 10-2 and had a phenomenal earned run average of 0.88, one of the best in the state. Backing Myers were Jerry Aggas, an outfielder-pitcher, and lefty Doug Cromer. Both pitchers had records of 3-1. To Coach Mobberly's delight the entire pitching staff is returning for the '64 season.

Ron Bollie, shortstop, led the team in hitting with a .328 average. He was followed closely by Dana VanHorn, who had a .327 average. Frank Shannon and Ron Golden both batted over .300.

Myers and Dean Ishida, centerfielder, were named to second team All-City, and Golden, Bollie, Shannon, Dana and Vince VanHorn were named to honorable mention All-City. The Warriors posted an 8-2 record in City League finishing behind Linden.

Other players returning for the '64 season are

Bollie, Mike Gornall, catcher; Steve Howell, first baseman; Jerry Groves, second baseman; and Ken Sauls, outfielder.

Trackmen

Eastmoor's star pole vaulter, Jim Clark, clears the crossbar again as he did so often during the 1963 track season.

The 1963 varsity cindermen finished the season with a 4-5 record in dual and triangular meets. The team participated in many top track meets around the state including the Belaire and Marion Relays.

One of the most outstanding events of the season was Jim Clark's 13'4" pole vault in the state meet which gave him a third place finish in the state. He also set a new record for Eastmoor by going 13'7¾" at the Riverside Relays at Central High School.

Other top trackmen who set records were Ron Eiland in the hurdles, Roc Snow in the 880, Mike Andrew in the shotput, and Marc Smith in the broad jump.

Reserve Cindermen Aid Varsity

The reserve track team did not have a very big schedule this season, but many of the boys on the reserve team participated with the varsity team at the varsity meets.

In five meets, the team had a 1-4 record. Many boys on the reserve team showed promise this year and they will be back to help the varsity track team next year.

Linksmen Gain Experience

For the second straight year, Wayne Williams paced the golf team. Bob Wolfe and Joe Sallee played consistent golf and will be welcomed back by golf coach Bill Courtney next year. The three juniors, Tom Brinker, Paul Grochowski, and Larry McCarthy, will be returning. The team finished with a 1-7 record this year. However, they hope for a more promising season in 1964.

Girls Compete in

Girls' sports play an important part in the schedule at Eastmoor. Girls are taught the fundamentals of such sports as volleyball, baseball, basketball, football, hockey, archery, and many others.

Under the supervision of Jan Welch and Donna Weed, girls are taught safe and enjoyable ways of participating in athletics.

The girls compete in many in school and out of school tournaments. They are kept physically fit and healthy by taking an active part in the sports here at Eastmoor.

Bunny Jenkins listens intently as Mrs. Welch explains about the art of archery.

Football is an active sport for both boys and girls at EHS. Here we see G.A.A. members playing.

Many girls learn about modern dancing in their physical education classes.

Mrs. Welch explains to Peggy Hubbard and Rita Hoffman one of the rules of hockey.

Many Sport Activities

Fifth Year for Warriorettes

Warriorettes were the first girls' drill team in the Columbus area. This is their fifth year in existence and they look forward to many more.

This year the Warriorettes marched at two football games, a pep rally, parades, and four basketball games.

Warriorettes begin practice in the middle of August. They spend many hours in the early morning and after school preparing their routines.

Their two main social events are the Warriorette banquet and the Dog-Patch Drag. Also, in order to raise funds to pay for their uniforms and letters, Warriorettes sell notebooks, have donut sales, and sell lunches during final exams.

Warriorette tryouts are held in May for the following year. The girls must have a C average with no failing grades. This average must be maintained after they have made the squad.

The Warriorettes were very fortunate in having excellent drummers this year. They were: Sanford Siegel, Dean Appleman, Tom Pyle, and Tim Thomas. The Warriorettes could not get along without the help of these fine boys.

The enthusiasm and hard work of our cheerleaders brings a warm response from the student body while backing our athletics.

Varsity cheerleaders, with help from the Reserves, are kept quite busy between games preparing our pep rallies.

A varsity cheerleader must have one year of reserve experience and if she is a junior, she must try out again next year.

Both Varsity and Reserve got new uniforms this year.

Cheerleaders — Personified Spirit

ADS

The advertising section is the key to the publication of this yearbook. Without the support of our patrons, to publish the 1964 Shield would have been very difficult. The yearbook staff and the ad salesmen appreciate the consideration of these merchants.

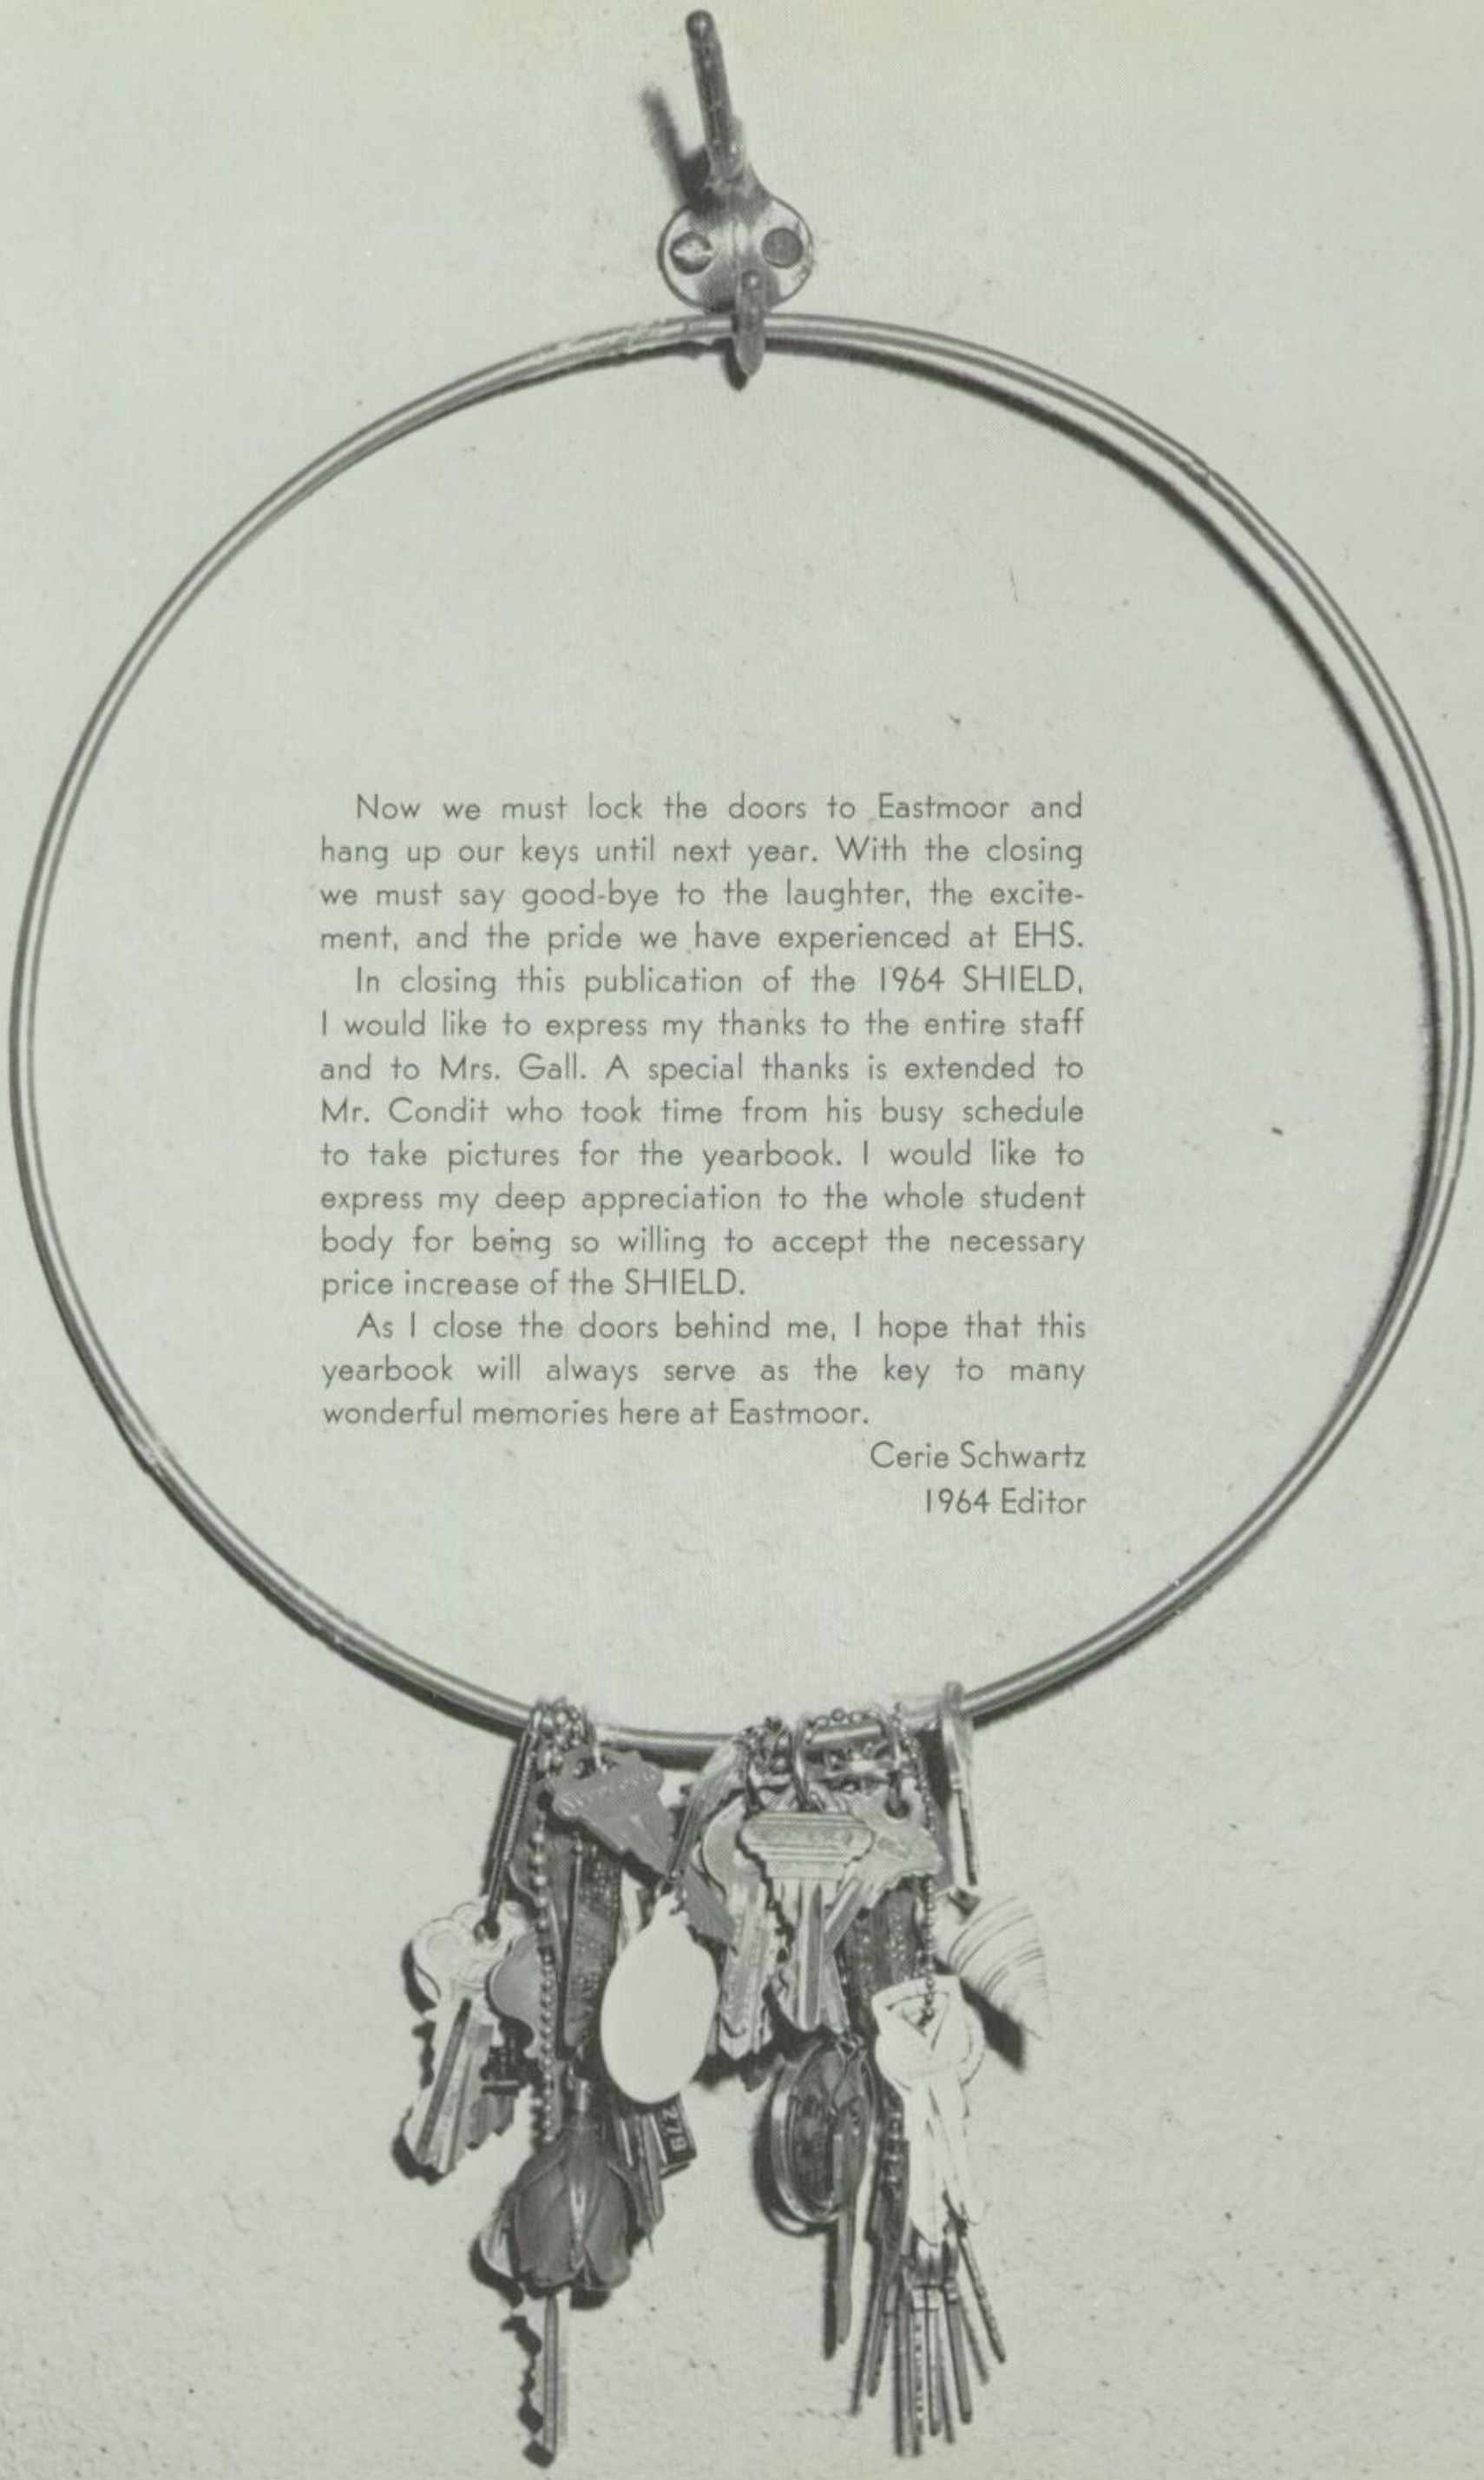
Congratulations, Seniors
of 1964
From
THE SHIELD STAFF



Now we must lock the doors to Eastmoor and hang up our keys until next year. With the closing we must say good-bye to the laughter, the excitement, and the pride we have experienced at EHS.

In closing this publication of the 1964 SHIELD, I would like to express my thanks to the entire staff and to Mrs. Gall. A special thanks is extended to Mr. Condit who took time from his busy schedule to take pictures for the yearbook. I would like to express my deep appreciation to the whole student body for being so willing to accept the necessary price increase of the SHIELD.

As I close the doors behind me, I hope that this yearbook will always serve as the key to many wonderful memories here at Eastmoor.
